COMMITTEE OF TWENTY-ONE CHOSEN

MEN NAMED REPRESENT ALL EASTBAY

Mayor Bartlett of Berkeley Appoints Citizens to Look Into Consolidation Before County Unity Is Imperilled

Three Oaklanders of Davie's Committee On New Lists; Cole Is Made Chairman; All Phases to Be Acted On

Mayor Louis Bartlett today appointed the following as members of the "Committee of Twenty-one" to devise ways and means of establishing a federated city and county government:

OAKLAND
Walter D. Cole, chairman, president of the Chamber of Commerce.
I. H. Spiro, president of the Merchants' Exchange.
James Traverse, Shredded Wheat Company.
E. H. Hurley, labor leader and assemblyman.
R. M. Fitzgerald, attorney.
Mrs. Frank G. Law, president of California Civic League.
Miss Annie Florence Brown, former member of Board of Education.

BERKELEY
Frank Thatcher, president Chamber of Commerce.
Mrs. Ida Blochman, president of Berkeley Center Civic League.
Charles H. Spear, former harbor commissioner.
Mrs. Aaron Schloss, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

ALAMEDA
P. S. Teller, director Alameda Savings Bank.
E. K. Taylor, former mayor.
W. J. Locke, city attorney.

PIEDMONT
Oliver Ellsworth, mayor.

HAYWARD
A. W. Beam, president of Chamber of Commerce.

EMERYVILLE
Fred J. Stoer, trustee.

SAN LEANDRO
Dr. C. H. Miller.

ALBANY
O. C. Marr, mayor.

LIVERMORE
Manly J. Clarke, city attorney.

PLEASANTON
Thomas Silver, banker.

Names of twenty-one representative citizens of Alameda county who will have the task of devising ways and means to create a permanent organization for effecting, if possible, the establishment of a federated city and county government, were announced today by Mayor Louis Bartlett of Berkeley.

The creation of this committee was ordered on Thursday night at the meeting called by Mayor Davie at the Oakland City Hall, when the representatives of various civic and commercial bodies of the county refused to act hastily on any consolidation plan, and declared for the appointment of a body of citizens who would give the matter study and bring to the public information, not only concerning the plan, but regarding the possibility of any general agreement.

THREE MEMBERS OF ORIGINAL COMMITTEE

Of the Oakland men appointed three, Cole, Spiro and Traverse, were members of the original Davie committee. Others named by Bartlett, who were appointed to represent their municipalities in the meeting of last week are: P. S. Teller, Alameda; F. J. Stoer, Emeryville; A. W. Beam of Hayward and Manly J. Clarke, Livermore.

Mayor Bartlett, as chairman of the meeting, was instructed to appoint the committee of twenty-one after the original motion that there be eleven members was amended. While the text of the resolution did not specify that he was to name at least one from each of the municipalities in the county, he announced it as his intention so to do.

Before the newly appointed body will come all of the questions that have been perplexing both the proponents and opponents of the plan. The state law providing for the action will be studied. It will be ascertained if under the provision allowing for an amendment, the powers granted to any borough under the charter may be lessened or taken away and an estimate of the cost of calling the elections, based on reports of experts, will be made.

WILL SOUND SENTIMENT OF VARIOUS SECTIONS

As the committee represents in its membership all of the districts of the county it will be in position easily to sound the sentiment in various sections.

With some opposition expressed in outlying sections the committee feels that it will have to accomplish a great deal of preliminary work before an agreement may be reached. It is expected that the announcement of the first meeting of the body will be made by Chairman Cole within a few days.

Romance Halted by Church

MRS. MILO ABERCROMBIE, whose wedding with Commander Lyman Knute Swenson, U. S. N., was halted today by a decree of the Roman Catholic Church. (Inset)

ROGER BECKWITH, former Baron Wilhelm von Brincken, divorced husband of Mrs. Abercrombie, whose intervention in clearing her path to the altar with another man, failed.

Brincken's Plan To Aid Former Wife Wed Fails

Union of Milo Abercombie and Commander Swenson Is Still Delayed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9—Even the intervention of Roger Beckwith, the former Baron von Brincken, who placed before the prelates of the Catholic church, in a conference this morning, such evidence and documents as he believed might clear the path to the altar for his former wife, Mrs. Milo Magdalene Abercrombie, failed.

Although all plans had been made for her marriage today to Commander Lyman Knute Swenson of the United States navy, the ceremony will probably go over until the tangle brought about by Mrs. Abercrombie's divorce from the former Baron von Brincken can be untangled by the matrimonial court of the Catholic church. It is possible that the edict of the church will prevent the marriage.

The consent of the church for the marriage hinges on telegraphic advices regarding the baptism of Von Brincken's first wife. The former baron gave church authorities all information at his disposal today. If the first wife of Von Brincken was baptized as a Catholic as a child, the church would hold that the marriage is still valid, as divorce is not recognized. It would invalidate Von Brincken's marriage to Mrs. Abercrombie and leave her free to marry again.

All morning the bridal party and wedding guests awaited the judgment of the court. The wedding gown of gold brocade and ivory satin, the veil and orange blossoms, were ready for their donning, and the nuptial feast awaited the outcome of the conference between the former German attache and the religious authorities.

The former Baron von Brincken, acting in accordance with the declaration which he has made many times that he would do all in his power to secure happiness to his former wife, brought before the prelates who questioned her right to again wed, as he believed such information would win their consent to the wedding. Archbishop E. J.

Auto Lochinvar Now Sought for Girl Kidnaping

Daring Abduction of Lass by Pettas Is Declared His Second Offense.

Romance and daring ride close to the steering wheel of a modern automobile when Spiro Pettas, Pittsburg Lochinvar and cave man, takes the road in search of a bride.

Twice, according to the police of Pittsburg and San Francisco, has Pettas, stepped on the gas and whisked away with a damsel fair while relatives disconsolate ate the dust kicked up by a flippant flivver. Twice has there been pursuit, and only once a capture.

Pettas, the alleged abductor of 14-year-old Marie Schofield of Pittsburg, it is said by the police, first performed the role of gasoline caveman several months ago when he chugged away from Antioch with a girl from that place. He was prosecuted, it is alleged, and escaped after an expensive tussle in the courts.

A warrant for the arrest of Pettas has been sworn out before Justice of the Peace A. C. Hartley of Antioch by Stanley Schofield, brother of the girl, who is said to be a willing passenger in the eloping roadster. According to the story of Stanley and Harry Schofield, Marie was with them at the railway station in Pittsburg yesterday morning when Pettes hove in sight.

According to the brothers, they were taking Marie to San Francisco because of the infatuation that existed between her and Pettas.

Efforts of the police to find the couple in Oakland and in other bay cities have been without success. Pettas is described as being five feet, three inches tall, weighs 145 pounds and is wearing a blue serge suit.

Late last evening Pettas left the stolen car in front of a Greek restaurant on lower Broadway, Oakland, and walking into the restaurant told the proprietor to telephone to Dannie Pappas, the owner, to come and get it. Pappas last night came to Oakland, claimed the car and took it to Pittsburg. The restaurant proprietor said the girl was not seen with Pettas when he entered the restaurant. He did nto give any information as to where he was going.

MANNIX IS SEIZED ON S. S. BALTIC

British Destroyer Forcibly Removes Australian Priest, Bound for Ireland, Landing Him At Penzance, England

Mystery Surrounds Transfer of Prelate From Steamer; Thousands Waited At Quay to Give Him Big Welcome

PENZANCE, Eng., Aug. 9 (by the Associated Press).—Archbishop Mannix was landed here from a destroyer at 4 15 o'clock this afternoon. It was stated he intended proceeding to London.

QUEENSTOWN, Aug 9.—According to a report here, Archbishop Mannix was forcibly taken from the steamer Baltic and conveyed to Cherbourg, France, by the destroyer Wivern, which did not return to port with the other destroyers which met the Baltic off Queenstown.

FISHGUARD, Wales, Aug 9 (by the Associated Press).—The steamer Baltic, from New York, with Archbishop Mannix, Australian prelate, on board, passed Fishguard at 9.30 o'clock this morning, without communicating with the shore.

The Scotland Yard men who came to Fishguard yesterday, coincident with receiving an order to the harbor master of Fishguard and nearby stations to "Stand by to take a passenger off the Baltic," returned to London.

THOUSANDS WAIT TO GREET PRELATE
BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

LONDON, Aug. 9.—While thousands of Irishmen waited to greet him at Liverpool, Archbishop Mannix of Australia was landed from a British destroyer today at Penzance, a watering place in Cornwall, according to official announcement by the Government Press Association.

The destroyer steamed into Mount's Bay, on which Penzance is situated, at 4:15 p. m., according to the announcement. No statement was made of the prelate's further movements, but it was unofficially understood that he started for London.

Mystery surrounded the circumstance of the archbishop's transfer from the Baltic to the destroyer. A Dublin despatch to the Evening Telegraph said the transfer was accomplished by force.

ADVOCATED IRISH REPUBLIC IN SPEECHES

Ever since the Baltic entered British waters the Irish have been on the alert, anxious to give a rousing welcome because of his Sinn Fein sympathies and his statements made recently in America in open advocacy of an Irish republic. Thousands assembled at Liverpool to cheer him and fences were built around the docks as if the government feared a riot.

The government at first did not reveal where the archbishop was taken off the Baltic. For an hour last night, however, the liner was anchored off Queenstown surrounded by destroyers, and it is thought the transfer may have been made then, within sight of Irish soil.

MANNIX CENTER OF POLITICAL STORM.

Before the Ventura, bringing Archbishop Mannix to San Francisco from Australia had docked on June 7, he was a figure of international interest and the center of political storm. On the steamer when the ship band played "America," the prelate kept his seat under the impression that the melody was that of "God Save the King." Upon his arrival here he made it plain that he meant no disrespect to America and that he did mean, most emphatically, that he had no intent to show respect to England.

The archbishop was given a reception at Dreamland rink where thousands greeted him and was entertained every minute of his stay in California. It was in Australia that he started the series of speeches which caused the wrath of Premier Lloyd George of England and of Premier Hughes of Australia. He repeated these sentiments in San Francisco.

SAYS U. S. CAN WIN FOR IRELAND.

"I know there is just one thing America can save out of the wreckage of her ideals," he said, "and that is, that if America stands to Ireland as she is bound to do in consistency, America will win for Ireland the acknowledgment of the great Irish republic."

Premier W. M. Hughes of Australia called British attention to the Mannix speeches at the time when the archbishop was in New York. According to the Australian, the prelate said that his one hope was that Ireland and America would fight England.

"If that hope is realized," said Hughes, "we will see a war the like of which the world has never seen. The Australian people repudiate Mgr. Mannix. They want America to understand that Australia is part and parcel of the British empire."

Archbishop Mannix replied with a statement that he represented the views of the majority of the people in Australia and that the view in that country had been tested several times in controversies between himself and the premier.

So spirited became the battle of words waged between Archbishop Mannix in this country and Hughes and Lloyd George that remonstrances were sent to the Vatican.

Boys Find Body Buried In Box; Foul Play Feared

Youths Stumble Across Gruesome Find While Playing Along Creek.

The finding of the body of a man in a box, which had been secreted under some brush in the bottom of a creek on the highway between Richmond and Martinez, was related to the Oakland police today by two Oakland boys who discovered it late yesterday as they were walking along the highway.

Ralph Briscoll, residing at 819 Aileen street, told the police that he and a boy friend by the name of Roy Hanson, also of Oakland, were walking along the highway and while resting sought the shade of some oak trees in a creek.

While resting he said he noticed the end of a rude box protruding from a brush clump. Further investigation revealed the skeleton of a man, which was dressed in green clothing.

He said when he removed the lid from the box, which had been concealed under the brush, he noticed a knapsack. The boys were so frightened that they ran from the creek bed and fled, according to the story Briscoll related to the police. He said they came on into Oakland and not until this morning did they decide to report to the police what they had discovered.

Sheri: Veale of Contra Costa county is now on his way to the scene of the discovery, while the Oakland police are en route there wil the boys, who say they can lead the authorities to the place.

Rice Men Hit at Antioch Motive In Riparian Suit

City Charged With Acting for Delta Land Owners; Hearing Starts.

The hearing on the petition of Antioch for a temporary order which would enjoin the rice growers of the Sacramento river valley from further diversion of Sacramento river water until the riparian rights can be adjudicated, started today before Judge A. F. St. Sure.

The hearing opened with an attack by the defendants on the motive actuating Antioch in bringing the suit. The attack was contained in an affidavit by G. F. Chamberlain, of San Francisco, investigator for the law firm of Hankins & Hankins, of the counsel for the defendants.

CHARGE CITY ACTS FOR DELTA PEOPLE.

The affidavit, a voluminous one, contains official and semi-official reports of meetings, newspaper stories of meetings and records of meetings held by the trustees of the city. The combined reports are designed to show that Antioch is acting for the land owners of the delta region and that the costs of the suit and any damages that may accrue as a result of the case are being guaranteed by these land owners.

It is charged that B. D. Marx Greene, city attorney for Antioch, suggested at a meeting of the land owners that the city of Antioch might bring the suit and that the land owners stand the cost.

CITY HAS WATER AFFIANTS ALLEGE.

A resolution, adopted by the city trustees, and read into the affidavit, is to the effect that the land owners will be required to pay the costs of the suit and guarantee any damages. own well water.

GREENE READS HIS OWN AFFIDAVIT.

When the case was called and before Chamberlain's affidavit was read into the record, Attorney Greene asked "personal privilege" to read an affidavit he himself had made.

This affidavit claims that there was no hidden motive in the suit; that the city acted for its own best interests; that "it is a matter of life and death to Antioch," and "that it is not true that Antioch is lending herself to be used by the land owners of the delta region as a "catspaw."

Among the allegations of the defendants are the following:

"An injunction would be equal to an execution before judgment."

"An acreage to the extent of 175,000 or more now is planted to rice."

"That the withholding of water from these lands for four or five days would mean the loss of the entire crop, valued at $60,000,000."

CLAIM CITY HAS NO HOLD ON SACRAMENTO.

"That the banks of California have loaned at least $7,000,000 on the present unharvested and unmatured crops."

"That the city is situated on the San Joaquin river above its junction with the Sacramento river and whatever riparian rights Antioch has in the San Joaquin, it has no rights whatever in the Sacramento river."

more easily the many attorneys for defense have formed an executive board to conduct the active trial. The rest will be in constant consultation. Stanley Moore, of Oakland; Robert T. Devlin, of Sacramento; W. H. Carlin, of Marysville, and Hankins & Hankins, of San Francisco, are among the members of this committee.

John S. Shortridge, counsel for W. H. Matson and Mary Helen Curtis, interveners in the suit on the part of the plaintiff, said today that no other land-owners will enter the case at this time. If the injunction

They reached a point west of Sokolow, but were counter-attacked and violent fighting is proceeding, according to an official statement tonight. The Poles took some prisoners.

Bitter fighting is reported northeast of Warsaw, where several villages have changed hands several times, but the Bolsheviki made no gains. Posen, three miles southwest of Ostrolenka, was taken by the Bolsheviki yesterday, but now is in the hands of the Poles, who are defending it.

There is heavy fighting along the Bug river from Drchiczyn to Wlodzimier-Zwolyn, where the Bolsheviki are being driven back. Along the southern front the Poles have the advantage.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—The foreign Office today was receiving sections of a note from Washington bearing on the Russian-Polish war. The middle part of the note arrived first.

It was reported this portion of the note said that while the Moscow government did not represent the Russian people, the Russian army was comparatively a national organization, fighting for national defense, and that the United States did not desire to interefere in Russia's internal affairs.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—State Department officials today disclaimed all knowledge of a note from the United States government to the French Foreign Office on the Russo-Polish situation. White House officials refused to discuss a Paris despatch stating that such a note was being received at the Foreign Office.

Secretary Colby said there was "no foundation" for the statement a note had been sent. Under-Secretary Davis also declared no note had gone through the department. White House attaches refused to say whether the reported note was sent directly from the White House without going through the usual State Department channels.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Although press despatches today indicated that the gravity of the Polish situation was increasing, there still was no intimation that the American government had reached a decision on the proposals for aid presented by the Polish government or the government program for helping the Poles outlined by the British and French governments.

No announcement was expected pending the outcome of the conference between Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand.

Exchanges between Washington and London and Paris still are continuing, but officials maintained silence as to their purport and also as to the views of President Wilson.

The note outlining the political situation in Poland which the foreign office at Warsaw was reported to have despatched to Washington had not been received today.

The latest word the government had from Poland reviewed the situation up to Saturday night. The department announced that a more hopeful view of the situation at Warsaw was indicated by these despatches.

The statement said also that some American residents had left Warsaw and that the American consulate was reported to be moving to Graudenz Saturday morning. It was added that the American legation was prepared to leave if the Poles moved the seat of government.

Applications for passports from former citizens of Poland who wish to return home to aid relatives are being received in increasing numbers, but no passports have been issued for several weeks, it was said.

BRINCKEN TO AID EX-WIFE TO WED

Vienna yesterday assured the bride-elect that ecclesiastical law had been straightened and the way made clear for the marriage, according to the statement of Mrs. Abercrombie.

QUESTION PUT BEFORE MATRIMONIAL COURT

Baron von Brincken in 1910 married Miss Louise Roedel. He was divorced from her four years later. The following year his marriage to the San Francisco belle was consummated. Mrs. Abercrombie is a Catholic by profession. The church recognizes no divorce. The question that was before its matrimonial court was to determine whether the von Brinckens had ever been in the [illegible] married or whether Mrs. Abercrombie was still the wife of von Brincken, now known as Beckwith. The fact raised itself that if the bride-elect went on with the wedding today she might do so in defiance of church laws and could no longer remain a Catholic. However, the former baroness emphasized the fact that von Brincken was a divorced man when she married him, and according to ecclesiastical laws she was therefore never his wife.

The sacrament of baptism finally became the determining factor in the sacrament of marriage when the prelates inquired into the baptism of the first Baroness von Brincken. The marriage of the second Baroness von Brincken hinges upon this important fact.

GIVES PROMISE OF SATISFACTORY EVIDENCE

Silence and 'watchful waiting' were maintained all day yesterday by all parties concerned while judgment was being prepared on the fate of the newest marriage. Commander Swenson of the United States Navy went into seclusion. The bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. George McGowan, were not "at home" to friends who called at their home, 849 Mason street.

Mrs. Louise Roedel von Brincken observed strict seclusion while all her relatives refused interviews. From out the deep silence, however came the announcement from Beckwith that at 7:30 o'clock this morning he would appear before the religious court with evidence that would satisfy.

When Milo Abercrombie gave up her citizenship in 1915 to become the wife of the German diplomat she embarked upon a stormy career which sent her husband to McNeil's island to serve a two-year sentence in connection with the Hindu plot. Before he was freed she secured her divorce and had her name and those of the two young children changed to Abercrombie. Announcement of her betrothal to Commander Swenson soon followed.

Berkeley School Bonds to Be Sold Over the Counter

Because of the failure of bond brokers to bid, the board of supervisors will sell nearly $1,000,000 worth of Berkeley school bonds, recently voted by that city, at private sale over the counter. This follows similar action in connection with $250,000 worth of Piedmont high school bonds for which also there were no bidders.

The sale of the Berkeley bonds, which include $429,000 of grammar school bonds and $492,000 of high school bonds, was set for today. Clerk J C. Holland reported there were no bids. The board ordered a resolution prepared providing for private sale and passed a resolution for the private sale of the Piedmont bonds. It is stated that wealthy residents of Piedmont will take over the bonds of that city. They bear 5½ percent interest, while the Berkeley bonds carry 5 percent.

Chairman John P. Mullins stated that the lack of bidders is due to the general stagnation of the bond market, and that if there is no sale at present rates the voters will have to provide for a higher rate of interest.

Following the receipt of a communication from Dr. Chesley Bush, medical superintendent of Arroyo sanitarium, to Supervisor D J. Murphy, asking that arrangements be made to sell between four and five tons of Calburnett wine grapes in this year's crop on the sanitarium's acreage, a resolution was passed authorizing the superintendent to sell the grapes for the best price obtainable. The grapes are said to be worth about $100 a ton.

The annual report of Miss Mary Barnby, Alameda county librarian, for the year ending June 30, showed there are 52,728 volumes on hand, including the teachers' library; that there were 9647 borrowers during the year and that the total circulation of books was 179,883. There were 45,706 volumes owned by the county July 1, 1919, 8141 accessions during the year and 1119 lost or discarded. The report showed that the library's operations are growing, there being now 29 branch stations with reading rooms and two deposit stations.

Mrs. Emma S. Shertzer, county social agent, reported the handling of 260 cases during July, 191 of which were sent to the county hospital at San Leandro, eight to Arroyo sanitarium at Livermore, 26 given information and the balance sent to the health center, tubercular clinic, associated charities and other institutions

SHIELDS SALOON; BAIL MADE $100

BERKELEY Aug. 9.—The desire of William L. Underwood, 662 Fairview street, Oakland, to protect the keeper of an alleged saloon who sold him two drinks on his birthday, caused him to be held under $100 bail this morning by Judge Robert Edgar on a plain charge of drunkenness.

Underwood appeared in court with J. J Mingham, also of 662 Fairview street, who is held on the more serious charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

"You see, it was my birthday, judge" said Underwood. "I just wanted a couple of drinks to celebrate. After I got two drinks I didn't remember anything. It wasn't whisky. Don't know what it was. Whatever it was it knocked me cold."

Where did you get them?" asked the judge

'Do I have to tell?" asked the defendant

'It might be better for you if you did," came the reply.

'Well, I don't want to get anybody in trouble," said Underwood. All the description of the saloon that he would give was that it was located on San Pablo avenue, just south of the Berkeley line. He declared Mingham was with him when he made his purchases

The judge gave Underwood until tomorrow morning to refresh his memory as to the exact location of the place where he bought his birthday drinks. Underwood and Mingham were arrested last evening by Patrolmen J J. Fisher and Frank Swain after the latter is declared to have driven his car in zig-zag fashion down Shattuck avenue. Mingham is held under $1000 bail. His case will come up Friday afternoon.

SHERIFFS CANNOT LOCATE CHAPLIN

LOS ANGELES Aug. 9.—Deputy sheriffs, assigned to serve papers on Charles Chaplin, film comedian, sued for divorce by Mildred Harris Chaplin, have not been able to find him, they reported in the Superior Court today.

When the divorce action was filed Monday Mrs. Chaplin's attorneys obtained a temporary order tieing up property valued at several million dollars

Huerta Expects Cantu Revolt Will Explode

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—San Luis, Sonora, has been selected as the base from which the Mexican federal government will direct its military operations against the rebellion of Estaban Cantu, governor of the northern district of Lower California, according to despatches from various official sources, receipt of which was announced today at the headquarters in Los Angeles of the de facto government.

Predictions were made at the agency that the Cantu rebellion would "explode of itself" when the first federal troops entered the district.

It was also asserted the governor had crossed the border into the United States after "making a show of force," and that he already had transferred to banks in this country his private fortune, estimated at the agency at from $1,000,000 to $8,500,000. These banks are said to be in Los Angeles and El Paso, Tex.

Eduardo Ruiz, agent here of the de facto government, said a special envoy from Adolfo de la Huerta, provisional president, was expected to reach Los Angeles Friday or Saturday of this week, and that the Cantu rebellion would be fully discussed here upon his arrival.

CALEXICO, Cal., Aug 9.—American Consul Walter F. Boyle, at Mexicali, has warned John Goree, American aviator, serving with Governor Cantu's forces, to return to the United States or [illegible] country, it was learned today.

Goree's resignation would virtually disrupt the Lower California air forces, officials here said today, since Paul Date, brother-in-law of Cantu, is the only other capable flyer in the district.

Appointment of commercial representatives in Los Angeles, San Francisco and border cities will be announced within a few days, Cantu officials said. These men will have powers ordinarily held by consuls, it was said.

Border officials have renewed their efforts to prevent arms and ammunition from being smuggled across the border. All shipments are being closely examined for contraband.

GERMAN WAR VESSELS ENTER HUDSON RIVER

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—German warships penetrated New York harbor today and proceeded up the Hudson river. But there was no excitement, for American bluejackets manned the enemy vessels, which were anchored in the stream for public inspection

The ships were the dreadnaught Osterfriest and, mounting twelve 12-inch guns, the cruiser Frankfurt and three destroyers. The dreadnaught came in under her own steam, but the others were in tow. They were smashed by British shells at the battle of Jutland and are practically floating junk. These vessels were surrendered to the allies. The United States may keep them a year for experimental purposes. Then they must be destroyed.

500 Citizens Defend Accused Pedagogue

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—James E. Addicott, suspended principal of Polytechnic high school, charged with incompetence, went on trial this morning before the Board of Education. George E Gallagher, president of the board, presides, while members of the board are acting as jurors.

A mass meeting was held last night at Howard Presbyterian church to protest the proposed removal of the principal. Playing Alfred Roncovieri, superintendent of schools, Dr. J. Wilson Lundy declared the head of the San Francisco school system unqualified for his duties. Mrs E. J. Grover, a teacher under Addicott, said Roncovieri was bringing his charges because Addicott disapproved popular election of the school superintendent.

Five hundred citizens who have banded themselves together for the defense of Addicott were present this morning when the hearing was opened.

Flanders Poppies Bring $651.85 in Alameda Drive

ALAMEDA, Aug. 9.—In response to the plea of Poppy day here, Saturday, when scarlet paper emblems of Flanders poppies were sold to gain funds for the children of devastated France, $651.85 was collected, as shown in the total amount given to E. J. Hall, treasurer of the drive.

Seventy-five workers went through the city Saturday getting their bit for the fund, which will shortly be carried back to France by Madame M. Guerin, who has been in the bay region for several weeks making a plea for her particular endeavor.

Mrs Alfred Latham, chairman of the Women's Auxiliary, Alameda American Legion, was honorary chairman of Saturday's drive; Madame Elsie Monsnier, chairman, and Miss Belle Garrette and Mrs. May Larkin Marston vice-chairmen.

Over a dozen machines were donated for the day to carry on the campaign.

The amount collected here will go to Paris, with the recommendation that it be used for the children of St. Quentin, in northern France, where the devastation is said to be worse than any other part of the country.

432,167 ATTEND EXTENSION WORK

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Aug 9.—University of California extension work reached 432,167 persons in California during the twelve months just ending, according to the report made to Professor Leon J. Richardson, director of university extension, by the various departments of the extension division.

In all branches of its work, including correspondence and class instruction, recitals, lectures and visual instruction by means of motion pictures and stereopticons, 432,167 persons attended university extension work. The number includes duplications, of course, of persons attending more than one lecture or recital, but it represents individual admissions or registrations.

The instructive motion picture entertainments which university extension furnishes to schools, churches and clubs, throughout the state won the largest attendance, 308,613 admissions being reported. Lectures and concerts were attended by 107,539 persons, making a total of 416,152.

In class courses in San Francisco, Oakland and Southern California cities, 12,973 were registered. Of this number 7510 registered in classes about the bay cities, an increase of 1600 or 27 per cent over the previous year. Correspondence courses were taken by 3042, an increase of 600 or 25 per cent over the previous twelve months.

He sank as soon as he struck the water and life guards unsuccessfully searched for the body until midnight. Grappiers are today trying to locate it.

REDS EAGER TO REACH WARSAW

WARSAW, Aug. 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—Sergeant William Cook of Fay, Okla., member of the American typhus expedition, captured three weeks ago by the Bolsheviki at Minsk, has arrived here, having been released. He came by way of Vilna and Riga, where he joined a Red Cross courier.

"Soldiers in the Bolsheviki army," he said, "are all eager to reach Warsaw, as they believe the war will end if the capital is taken. Some Bolsheviki apparently do not care whether the war ends. Many are young fellows who look on war as a lark."

The soviet army has plenty of soldiers, rifles, machine guns, and ammunition, Cook says, but he did not see any artillery except six captured cannon. He saw many American automobiles and motorcycles being used and remarked that the Bolsheviki are fairly well fed, having lived off the country they have captured.

Little discipline prevails, he declared, and although there is no shirking, officers are respected. While on the march, the Bolsheviki reminded Cook of a crowd of American farmer boys going to a picnic, as they made no effort to preserve formations. Whenever they desired, groups would rest. One day he counted 11 airplanes flying toward the front.

Cook, who fought in the American ranks in France, was captured when he remained with the anti-typhus train at Minsk. He was taken for a Polish soldier by the Bolsheviki, who stripped him of everything except his underwear and then paraded him through the streets. When it became known he was an American, soldiers came for miles to see him.

Two weeks after his capture, Cook was taken before a commissar, who related the good points of the Soviet form of government. He remained in Minsk a week before he could obtain papers to give him authority to travel.

Locklear Is Buried; Army Honors Given

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 9.—Omer Locklea., former army aviator, killed in Los Angeles Monday, was buried at Greenwood cemetery with full military honors. The funeral cortege passed through a lane of thousands of bowed heads while airplanes showered down roses.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 9.—U. F. Nadeau of Kansas City, an aviator, was burned to death at Cowles Field, west of Topeka, when his airplane came down in flames.

R. C. Travers of Plainsville, Kan., crawled from the machine when his safety belt broke. He suffered serious burns.

FRIENDS FIRST, RELIGION LAST, WITH STUDENT

BERKELEY, Aug. 9. — Friends come at the top of the list of the "essentials" of a University of California student, and religion last, according to the results of a survey as made by Rev. L. B. Hillis, student pastor of the Presbyterian church.

According to a sermon preached by Rev. Hillis at the First Presbyterian church last evening, giving the aswers to questionnaires sent out last term to three fraternity houses and one men's house club, this is the order of importance which students regard various activities: Friendship athletics, dancing, theaters, parties, religion.

But, says Rev. Hillis, the showing of the college men is not as bad as it might be. He declares that in the classification religion evinces but one percent less interest than theaters. The college student, says the clergyman, is more religious than the high school student. Of the students in the four organizations to which the questionnaire was sent, 37 percent were not members of any church, 33 percent had no religious preference, while 50 percent were not attending church of any kind.

"University students are adherents of Christianity, but they do so many other things that they haven't time to carry out their beliefs to any extent'" declared Rev. Hillis last night. "The results of the survey can be taken optimistically, however. If friendship is the thing most desired by the college man then his religious instincts can be reached through friendship."

Here are some of the results of the survey as made by Dr. Hillis:

Eighty-nine percent expressed a belief in Christianity; 60 percent favored missions; 85 percent took the Bible as an authority for morals; 73 percent regarded the Bible as an authority for religion; 49 percent as an authority for history, and 25 percent as an authority for science; 40 percent as a measure of salvation for past sins; 52 percent for present sins, and 60 percent for future sins.

But 62 percent of the students accepted the Bible as the word of God, Dr. Hillis' report shows.

ROOSEVELT IS NOTIFIED; SEES GREATER U. S.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 9.—"A greater America," nationally and internationally, was the keynote of the speech here today of Franklin D. Roosevelt, in accepting the Democratic nomination for vice-president.

Realization of added greatness for America depends, Roosevelt said, on the solving of two great problems by the next national administration—our relations with the world and the pressing need of organized progress at home."

He declared Governor Cox is preeminently qualified, in spirit, training and experience to meet and solve these problems properly, "one who . . . has led the Nation forward in an unhalting march of progress."

In world problems, Roosevelt declared, "we must either shut our eyes, build an impregnable wall of armaments and live a hermit nation, or we must open our eyes and see that modern civilization has become so complex as to make it impossible to be in this world and not of it."

AMERICA AWAKENED BY WAR.

As for home problems, he said, we have been awakened by this war into a startling realization of the archaic shortcomings of our governmental machinery and of the need for the kind of reorganization which only a clear thinking business man, experienced in the technicalities of governmental procedure can carry out. We need to do things, not to talk about them."

He appealed for "fairness and generosity in the campaign," declaring that inasmuch as partisanship was buried during the war, it should not now be revived in ancient bitterness.

The nominee asserted that the Nation knows that the war has been only half won until to the cry of the French at Verdun—"they shall not pass"— and of the Americans in the Argonne—"we shall go through"—we added the words—"it shall not occur again."

ASKS BETTER PAY FOR EMPLOYEES.

To this end, he said, the Democrats offer a peace treaty "which to make it a real treaty for a real peace must include the League of Nations."

He urged that the American people be dealt with "without vagueness, subtle dealing or equivocation on the league issue," and added:

"The league will not die. An idea does not die which meets the call of the hearts of our mothers."

Peace, he said, can't be declared by Congress, as war is. He predicted that soon the United States will take its seat in the league.

Turning to domestic questions, to which he devoted much of his speech, Roosevelt outlined as vital needs the following:

"Bettering of citizenship, through elimination of illiteracy and strengthening of immigration laws; improvement of working conditions, especially in congested centers; protection of child life and women in industry; extension of communications to make rural life more attractive; development of national resources; reform of government by elimination of archaic methods in Congress and the administrative branches of the government. Better pay for government employees, with a higher standard of efficiency."

CUMMINGS CONTRASTS PARTIES

Contrasting Republican and Democratic national conventions as typical of what American people may expect from the respective parties, Homer S. Cummins, in his speech here today, notifying Franklin D. Roosevelt by the Democrats for the vice-presidency, said that the country is "paying a staggering penalty" for Republican success in the congressional elections of 1918.

"From that moment," said Cummings, referring to the 1918 election, "American progress stopped, partisanship took possession of public affairs and Republican leaders became more interested in political success than in national honor. The results were immediate and disastrous.

"We have now passed through two years of domestic and international chaos. There is but one way out. It is to redeem America's word to the world and to assume without hesitation our share of the task of rehabilitating the broken structure of civilization."

SHADY COMPROMISES CHARGED

Cummings said that the Republicans evolved a set of shady compromises at their convention, on both platform and candidates. "Timidity and cunning," he declared, "are the chief characteristics of the G. O. P. platform," while its presidential candidate, who he said was "not the choice of any considerable number of the delegates," therefore cannot evoke any popular response.

"The chief mission of the Republican party since 1912," he said, has been to find fault and make trouble, while its purpose has been and still is, repudiation and retreat."

The Democrats, he said, led the Nation to the unchallenged leadership of the world and, if entrusted with power, will restore it to that position.

Cox Misstates Facts and Errs Often, Harding Says

MARION, O., Aug. 9.—Assailing Governor Cox's speech of acceptance as a "curious mixture of errors and misstatements," Senator Harding's headquarters replied in a statement to the Governor's criticism of the record of the Republican Congress on taxation, finances and the league of nations.

The Republican party, it said, is ready to join battle on whether "the Senate attempted to subvert and did subvert the wish and purpose of the American people in preventing ratification of the President's league."

Charges that Congress had made no effort to reduce war tax burdens were described as "far from recorded facts," and it was declared that by opposing Democratic appropriation proposals Congress had saved $2,414,115,144 in government expenditures.

The statement also asserted that by suggesting repeal of consumption taxes and enactment of a blanket 1½ per cent levy on business of going concerns, Governor Cox had shown "he has no program except to appeal for the support of people who want somebody else to pay the taxes."

"Leadership which would distort these facts as Governor Cox has done," it continued, "will hardly command confidence when the country turns attention to our fiscal future."

Another telegram urging Republican co-operation in ratification of suffrage by the Tennessee Legislature was sent to Nashville by Senator Harding.

SUFFRAGE URGED.

It was addressed to Harriet Taylor Upton, a suffrage leader, and said:

"You may say for me to Republican members of the general assembly that it will be highly pleasing to have Republicans play their full and becoming part in consummating the constitutional grant of women suffrage. It is no longer a question of policy, it is a matter of Republican contribution of a grant of suffrage to which our party is committed and for which our party is in the main responsible."

The statement from Harding headquarters on Cox's speech said:

Governor Cox's acceptance address will not fail to please his political opponents, who are convinced that the country's most immediate task is to get its business administration into the hands of people competent to take care of it, and get its international relations into the control of men who are Americans first, rather than internationalists.

The speech is a curious mixture of errors and misstatements as to facts so well known that mere utterance can cause nothing less than amusement.

On government expenses Governor Cox said:

"Immediately following the armistice, measures to modify onerous and annoying taxation should have been taken and the Republican Congress has not made a single effort or passed a single law to lift a load of war taxation that cannot be tolerated in peace. Federal taxation must be heavily reduced, and it will be done at once if a Democratic administration is chosen."

TAXES REDUCED, CLAIM.

The foregoing is far from recorded facts. The sixty-sixth Congress reduced the country's taxes by $2,414,115,144.13. It appropriated that much less than the amount which the Democratic Administration demanded.

The Democratic sixty-fifth Congress died March 4, 1919. It had failed to pass many appropriation bills. Its task was turned over to the incoming Republican Congress, which proceeded to prune down the estimates prepared by its Democratic predecessors. This pruning resulted in a saving of $939,692,341.97.

Following this came the regular session of the Republican sixty-sixth Congress, from which the Democratic Administration demanded appropriations aggregating $6,634,312,929.46. Instead of granting this amount, which was insisted upon with all vehemence by Democratic departments, this session cut the estimated appropriations $1,474,422,602.16.

In the face of this, it is rather astonishing that Governor Cox should declare that the Republican Congress has not made a single effort or passed a single law to reduce taxation.

If the estimates submitted by the Democratic Administration had been granted, appropriations would have exceeded the revenues by $1,400,000,000. But because of Republican economy there will be a surplus of $1,100,000,000. The figures are from the fiscal analysis made by Congressman Mondell of Wyoming on June 21 and never denied. They mean that during the fiscal year 1921 the national debt can be reduced $1,100,000,000, whereas if the Democratic appropriations had been made the debt would have increased $1,400,000,000.

The discussion of taxation in the Democratic nominee's address is about equally sound and reliable. Governor Cox's discussion of revenue and taxation will demonstrate that he has no program except to appeal for the support of people who want somebody else to pay the taxes. We might as well assume that the man who pays rent for a property pays no taxes as to accept the fallacious theory on which Governor Cox says he would manage government finances.

Barely less than half the Democratic Senators, plus all Republican Senators, supported the Lodge reservations. Republicans and Democrats stood shoulder to shoulder for the protection of American independence and interests. The Senate, in a patriotic and unpartisan consideration, did a great service to the nation and world. The Republican party is proud and confident as it goes before the country on that record.

COX INAUGURATES PEOPLE'S FRONT PORCH CAMPAIGN

By HERBERT W. WALKER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 9.—Governor James M. Cox is ready to carry his campaign to "front porches of the people of the country," as he expressed it today.

In marked contrast to the campaign of his Republican opponent, the Democratic nominee will start Wednesday one of the most extensive stump tours in the history of presidential contests. With the main issues of the campaign outlined in his speech of acceptance, he has prepared a militant campaign which will take him from New England to the Pacific Coast. He will travel almost continuously until election day.

One of the first efforts of his stump campaign, it was learned, will be to brand the Republican party as reactionary in the hope of making a strong bid for the progressive and independent vote.

Every day Cox seems to grow more eager for what he calls "the big fight," and it was at his insistence that party leaders agreed to start the stump campaign. He will leave Wednesday for Camp Perry, Ohio, where he will speak Thursday at the annual shoot of the National Rifle Association.

From that date until September 2 Cox will speak in Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York. Then he will hit the trail for the Middle West and the Pacific Coast, probably returning East early in October to wind up the big political battle.

The rest of the stump campaign is now being framed by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, head of the Democratic speakers' bureau, with headquarters in New York.

Democratic leaders apparently are anxious to pull Senator Harding off his front porch by the vigorous Cox campaign. Senator Harrison, before leaving for New York, predicted that within a few weeks Harding will be speaking "in former Republican strongholds to stem the tide toward the Democrats."

Political Notes

Supervisor John F. Mullins, chairman of the board of supervisors of Alameda county and candidate for re-election as supervisor, addressed a meeting of supporters at the residence of Dr. John Scott Barker on Twenty-eighth street, Saturday night. The gathering assembled to celebrate the birthday anniversary of A. Van Der Naillen Jr., who in the midst of the evening's festivities paid a tribute to Supervisor Mullins for the good work done for Alameda county, adding that in his opinion Mullins is deserving of the unanimouse vote of his fellow-citizens. Mullins assured the audience that he could be depended upon to continue without reservations the same constructive policies that have ever characterized his acts as a representative of the people.

Asserting that service men in the great war were inadequately cared for on their return to civil life, former Congressman William Kent, Republican nominee for United States Senator, today expressed himself as "entirely in sympathy with every public expenditure intended to stake and equip them for the best that life can hold out."

Kent stated his view in a letter to Fred H. Bebergall, State adjutant of the American Legion, who had written asking his position. "I resent the fact that many millionaires were created out of the war," said Kent, "and I wish that by some system of taxation this money could be recovered."

The Order of Camels has endorsed Judge William R. Geary of Oakland for Congress. The Order of Camels is a national order organized for the purpose of securing an amendment to the Prohibition Enforcement Act, which will permit the use of wines and beer.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 9.—State Controller John S. Chambers, acting at the request of Will H. Hayes, chairman of the Republican National committee, today issued a call for a conference of the editors of California to meet at 11 o'clock Saturday, Aug. 28, at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, to organize for campaign purposes in the interest of Harding and Coolidge.

Cox Speech Bunk, Christensen Says

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 9.—Parley P. Christensen, nominee of the Farmer-Labor party for President, in a statement declared "a promise of four more years of Wilsonian hypocrisy is all I can get out of the speech of acceptance of Governor Cox.

"In Cox speech," he added, "completes the conspiracy by the Republican and Democratic bosses to blind the people to their real interests by setting up the dead League of Nations as the paramount issue.

"I predict that the present critical European situation will result in what amounts to a new peace conference that will scrap the treaty of Versailles. The League of Nations has never functioned and never will. Europe knows this and realizes now most acutely the necessity for a new agreement—a peace based on the solid foundation of international justice and honest statesmanship, and not on rhetorical generalizations by erudite hypocrites.

"Smug hypocrisy is the dominant note in the governor's statement of acceptance, just as transparent buncombe is the outstanding characteristic of his Republican opponent's utterances."

Cox to Visit Pacific Coast in September

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 9.—Governor James M. Cox will open his active campaign for the presidency at Camp Perry, Ohio, next Thursday, DeWitte announcement of the Democratic candidate's speaking itinerary up to September 3 is made by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the speakers' bureau, after a conference with Governor Cox and George White, chairman of the Democratic national committee, at Trail's End.

The itinerary thus far worked out will carry the governor into five states, including Ohio. In the meantime the itinerary of his western tour will have been arranged. The governor plans to start for the Pacific Coast shortly after September 3. It is certain that he will speak in both San Francisco and Los Angeles.

DENVER CARMEN VOTE TO RETURN

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

DENVER, Aug. 9.—The executive committee of the Tramway Workers' Union at a meeting today appointed a committee of three to call upon Frederick W. Hild, general manager of the tramway, and inform him that the striking trainmen would go back to work. Henry Silberg, president of the union, said there were no restrictions.

The executive committee abandoned its previous position that the men would go back only if they were permitted to return in a body and the strike breakers were discharged.

The action of the executive committee brought to an official end the strike of 1000 trainmen which began August 1.

The strike turned Denver into a virtual armed camp following rioting of last Thursday and Friday nights.

The toll of death as a result of the riots was raised today to seven, following the death of Leonard A. Temmer, 18, in a hospital. He was shot and wounded in the riots at the east side car barns Thursday night. Temmer was a Union Pacific railroad shopman.

William E. Foley, district attorney, announced he would immediately ask permission of the county court to call a grand jury to investigate the riots and disturbances growing out of the strike.

EUROPE GIVES TREASURES FOR LEGION PALACE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—When the California Palace of the Legion of Honor in memorial to the State's soldier dead will be completed in Golden Gate Park, its rooms will be filled with rare treasures, the gifts from the nations of Europe, according to the announcement of Mrs. Adolph Spreckles, who arrived in New York yesterday from abroad. The memorial hall will be given to the commissioners of the park by Mr. and Mrs. Spreckles.

Mrs. Spreckles made a special trip to interest Europe in the project. The Republic of France has offered five tapestries depicting the life of Joan of Arc. Rooms will be completely furnished by the King of Rumania and the Duchess of Vendome, sister of King Albert of Belgium. A large treasure chest of trophies has been brought home by Mrs. Spreckles awaiting the building of the Palace.

The memorial to the soldier dead will be a replica of the Palace of the Legion of Honor in Paris.

Two Bandits, 16, Are Identified by Victim

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—Two 16-year-old bandits were held awaiting arraignment in the juvenile court today, following their arrest shortly after they held up and robbed George Horr of 20 cents. The boys, Robert Muse and Walter Saul, were captured and identified by their victim. A .22 caliber revolver figured in the hold-up.

A Great Remedy.

The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is occasionally a man who had no acquaintance with them and should read the following by F. H. "STATE" NEWS

STOCKTON, Aug. 9. — S. Dean Bryant, member of the firm of Bryant, Peterson & Bristol, owning large herds of sheep in several counties, and widely known in the San Joaquin valley, was shot and killed by Jose Rodriguez, a demented Spanish sheepherder, who then shot himself to death in a cigar store at one of the most important business corners in Stockton.

Rodriguez was in the store when Bryant entered. Some one said "Hello." Without warning the crazed man began shooting. A bullet pierced Bryant's left cheek, while another entered the side of his chest, penetrating the heart. Turning the revolver on himself Rodriguez fired one bullet into his mouth and another into his heart. Business partners claim Bryant never had trouble with the sheepherder, who deserted his herd in Kings county six months ago. His employers believed he was insane but were unable to locate him.

DEATH AUTO FOUND.

REDDING, Aug. 9.—The car driven by Henry Schultz when he was slain near Susanville early in July, and his body thrown by the roadside, has been identified in a Redding garage.

Schultz left Susanville with a stranger to whom he gave a ride. Eight days later his body was found near Fredonia Pass. The car was found later at Duck Lake, but before the Lassen county officers claimed it, it was stolen a second time.

The Redding garage man bought it two weeks ago from L. Wright, a farmer of Whitmore, who had purchased it from a stranger.

FRESNO, Aug. 9.—Searchers have found the body of Herbert Gallup, Fresno business man who was drowned four weeks ago in the Kings river near Piedra. The body was found among jagged boulders at the foot of a cascade over which Gallup fell to his death.

CURRENT KILLS DAIRYMAN.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 9.—William O'Reill, one of the most prominent dairymen of Sacramento county, was electrocuted by the high power wires on his ranch near Sheldon in the Consumes river district.

Investigation by Coroner John T. Skelton showed the pumping station was improperly insulated. The body will be shipped to Placerville for burial.

BOY IS DROWNED.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 9.— The four-year-old son of L. E. Pyle, formerly of San Jose, was drowned in the Sacramento river by falling overboard from his father's launch near Isleton. The body was recovered and brought here.

MANY CITIES SEEKING LOCAL SCHOOL PLANS

That the progress of the Oakland public schools building program is attracting great attention throughout the west is indicated in a report from the construction department showing a large number of inquiries from other large cities having similar bond issues under way or contemplating important new construction, seeking information on the system in effect in Oakland.

According to the report, not only have queries come in from different parts of the country, but five different representatives of large Pacific Coast cities that are engaged in, or preparing to engage in, school construction of magnitude, have visited the construction department of the Oakland Board of Education during the past few weeks and have interviewed chief of construction Marston Campbell, supervising architect C. W. Dickey and other officials of the department, as well as school department heads.

HARDING PLANS FOR QUIET WEEK

By RAYMOND CLAPPER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

MARION, O., Aug. 9.—Senator Harding plans a quiet week, despite the fact that acceptance formalities are out of the way for both of the candidates and the "ad" is officially off for the remainder of the presidential campaign.

Political conferences, work on future speeches and a motor trip or two will compose the week's routine. Friday the State Editorial Association will visit the front porch and Harding may take the opportunity to make a partial reply to Governor Cox's acceptance speech at that time. Will Hays, national chairman, is due here tomorrow to confer with the candidate over campaign plans.

Harding is still refraining from official comment on the Cox acceptance speech, but his headquarters today issued an authoritative statement scoring the address as "a serious mixture of errors and misstatements."

Cox, it is alleged, had "distorted" facts when he charged the Republican congress with failing to make a single effort toward reducing taxation burdens. The statements quoted figures showing the Republican congress from March 4, 1919, to date, has effected an aggregate saving of nearly two and one-half billion dollars by cutting down appropriations asked for by the Democratic Administration.

Mr. and Mrs. Votaw are spending a few days on the camp grounds.

WALLACE FOR CITRUS TARIFF

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—Bringing before the lemon growers of the south a promise that if A. J. Wallace former lieutenant governor of California, is elected to the United States Senate he will "push with all his might legislation looking toward protective tariff," Egerton Shore, campaign manager for Wallace, today addressed the Lemon Men's Club of Southern California.

Shore was the first speaker that has ever appeared before the club since its inception in the interests of a political candidate. He was asked to speak by the club as a special concession, because Governor Wallace was one of the directors in the first lemon association ever organized in the citrus industry.

"Protective tariff is absolutely essential," declared Shore, "if the citrus industry in America is to remain. At the present time lemons from Italy are being sold on our markets at a price cheaper than the American growers can sell their crops.

"The same thing is also true to an embarrassing degree with beans, onions, eggs and olives. Mr. Wallace is a strong supporter of protective tariff and if elected will work with all his might to see legislation of this sort enacted at Washington."

Four men, Alex Groschwelck, George Chapel, Gabriel Sdo. roduke and William Cerco, ring leaders in the meeting, were arrested and will be turned over to the federal authorities for deportation today.

Herb Lore Developed Through Ages

The practice of using herbs in the treatment of human ills was commenced in China two thousand years before the Christian era and a much greater time before the modern practice of medicine had its crudest beginnings.

Through these centuries the practice of herb treatments has been wonderfully developed until today the Oriental practitioner has at his command the knowledge of hundreds of remedial herbs that have been used successfully in treating every known human malady.

Y. L. Chan is one of the foremost exponents of this practice on the Pacific Coast.

SPENT THE PRICE OF A GOOD AUTO

"When a man has suffered from the worst kind of stomach trouble and rheumatism, for over twenty years, and then finds a medicine that gets rid of all his troubles and makes him feel like a brand new man, I think it is up to him to tell about his experience for the benefit of others," said H. J. Blair, machinist at the Elite Garage, 12th and Jefferson Streets, Portland, Oregon.

"Before I began taking Tanlac I couldn't touch a bit of meat or fruit without being in misery for hours afterwards. I used to dread eating anything at all, and the little I did force myself to take would sour on my stomach and form gas that bloated me up until I was as tight as a drum and the pain was awful. I became so dizzy at times I could hardly see where I was going and also suffered with headaches that almost drove me distracted. My kidneys bothered me a lot and my back hurt me so much it was agony to stoop over. I had awful attacks of rheumatism that nearly laid me out altogether. I must have spent the price of a good automobile on treatment and medicines but never got any relief to speak of until I tried Tanlac.

"But six bottles of Tanlac have done wonders for me and for the first time in twenty years I am free of all pain and feeling just fine. I can eat anything I want and never have a touch of indigestion. My kidneys are now working properly, the pains in my back have gone, and all sign of the rheumatism has disappeared. I sleep like a log every night and get up in the mornings feeling rested and refreshed. I can't find words to express my gratitude for all that Tanlac has done for me and hope all who suffer as I did will profit by my experience."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company Stores.—Advertisement.

FERRY RATE LIFT GROSS INJUSTICE, ATTORNEY'S VIEW

ALAMEDA, Aug. 9.—An increase of 26 per cent in the present ferry rates in the bay region asked of the State Railroad Commission in conformity with the national rail rate award, would be a gross injustice to this vicinity which, since the war, has paid a 50 per cent increase, in the opinion of W. J. Locke, city attorney, who this morning issued the following statement:

"In all probability the Railroad Commission of California will comply with the request and apply the blanket increase of 26 per cent as suggested. If, however, such an increase should be made on the present ferry rates across San Francisco bay, it would be an act of gross injustice to all the bay cities.

"During the war, practically the only increase in railroad passenger rates made in California was confined to the ferry system on San Francisco bay and the electric railway system around Los Angeles, the increase in ferry fares amounting to 50 per cent for single trips. Outside of a slight increase in fares to Sacramento and San Jose, there were no other increases in general passenger rates [illegible] throughout the State. Therefore, a further increase of 26 [illegible] increases throughout the state [illegible] made in ferry rates [illegible] would [illegible] rates in large [illegible] per cent increase in railroad passenger rates [illegible] San Francisco [illegible] rates would [illegible] upon [illegible] increases amounting to 76 per cent in some cases.

"[illegible] Railroad Commission would permit any such injustice, and it is not at all [illegible] the 50 per cent increase already showed that the bay cities will be called on to shoulder any more of the additional burden as they have already done more than their share."

SALARY RAISE GRANTED CITY'S STREET HELP

Further wage and salary increases for employes in the street department were provided by the city council this morning with the adoption of an ordinance amending the recent blanket salary ordinance to provide the foreman of street oiling a raise from $5 a day to $165 a month, and increasing the street foremen from $5.50 a day to $6 a day.

Another ordinance was introduced and referred to the municipal efficiency expert, increasing operators of oiling machines from $140 a month to $156 a month, and substitute oiling machine operators from $5 a day to $5.50 a day.

The same ordinance raises steam roller engineers from $170 a month to $6 a day, extra steam roller engineers from $5 a day to $6 a day, and provides the same increases for substitutes.

Nealon May Quit League Presidency as Result of Squabble Over Hal Chase

SAN JOSE, Aug. 9.—That Jim Nealon, president of the Mission League, is planning to resign is the report brought to this city from San Francisco by C. G. Bradford, manager of the old San Jose Bears, who returned last night.

According to Bradford Nealon is determined that Hal Chase be barred from playing in the league and that he will give up his post before he will consent to Chase again donning the San Jose uniform. He says it was the belief in San Francisco that Nealon will turn in his resignation at the meeting next Wednesday night if the directors of the league vote to allow Chase to play.

Formal charges against Hal Chase, the ones on which he was banned from playing in the Coast and Mission leagues and which resulted in him being forbidden the right to enter the parks of the former organization, will be presented at a meeting of the directors of the Mission League at a meeting to be held in Gilroy next Wednesday night.

CHASE TO APPEAR

Chase will be present at the meeting and will answer the charges.

The agreement to hold the meeting was made last night when President Lorocca of the San Jose team, Manager Bert O'Connor, directors of the Gilroy and Hollister teams and President Jim Nealon of the Mission League met at Gilroy to discuss the case.

"Will you call a meeting of the directors of the league and place the charges against him before them while he is present?" Lorocca asked Nealon.

FRIEND OF CHASE

"Yes," was the answer. "I am a friend of Chase's and if he can clear himself of the charges made I will be the first to grasp his hand. I did not act as hastily as you seem to think in forbidding him the right to play. I know the man who made the charges against him and have known him for twenty years. His word is good with me. But that does not mean I am unwilling to give Chase the right to answer them and I am willing to call a meeting."

"Can you call it for next Wednesday night?" asked Lorocca.

"Yes," answered Nealon, "and it will be held here in Gilroy as this is the most central point."

WANT FULL MEETING

"We want a full meeting of the directors," said Bert O'Connor, "as the San Jose team is behind Chase until he is proven guilty. We will not take the word of any man unless he has proper evidence to back it up."

"The directors will all be notified," said Nealon, "and I am sure they will all be on hand."

Nealon also said that three business men of Salinas would attend the meeting and endeavor to have the ball team of that city reinstated in the league.

Sugar Officials Face Trial As Profiteers

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 9.—Eight directors of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company, charged with profiteering in sugar, were bound over to appear at the October term of the United States Court for the Eastern Division of Idaho by a United States Commissioner here today. Bond was fixed at $10,000 each. Complaints against Heber J. Grant, president of the company and also president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and two other officials of the company were dismissed.

No recommendation as to whether Oakland should move to resist the contemplated 19 per cent increase in commutation rates that will mean another increase in ferry fares between Oakland and San Francisco will be made to the City Council from the city's legal department, according to an announcement from Leon Gray, assistant city attorney, this morning.

Following a meeting Saturday in the Oakland city hall of all of the city attorneys of the Eastbay cities, when a preliminary discussion of the question of opposing the proposed increase was held, Gray is preparing a report of the situation for the Oakland city commissioners, which probably will go to the city council tomorrow.

The report, however, will be merely a resume covering the facts in connection with the present hearing of the State Railroad Commissioner on the commutation rate increases, and no recommendation will be made, according to Gray.

"My stand is not as radical as that of some of the other city attorneys," said Gray today, "and I intend merely to report the facts to the council and leave it to the commissioners to take whatever action they see fit in regard to opposition to the contemplated increase."

After Saturday's meeting it was [illegible] room, where the legal advisers of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and Piedmont were gathered, that the various councils would be advised this week to take steps to resist the increase as far as it will effect transbay ferry fares. It was also agreed that a recommendation should be made that a representative of all of the cities should be sent to Los Angeles to attend the continued hearing of the Railroad Commission there Wednesday.

Saturday's meeting was called at the instigation of Frank Cornish, city attorney, of Berkeley, who declared that another increase in ferry rates would be unfair in view of the increase granted less than a year ago, amounting to practically a 40 per cent raise.

AVIATOR DENIES GIRL'S CHARGES

Lieutenant Bert Acosta, pilot of the leading transcontinental mail airplane, is being held today in the Oakland city prison.

Acosta was arrested yesterday afternoon a short time after he stepped from his airplane at Durant flying field. He is charged by Ilah Dodge, 22, Sacramento society girl, with a statutory offense.

Acosta is being held by the police on receipt of a telegraphic request from the police department in Sacramento.

Acosta's request that he be released on bail was refused this morning by the Oakland police, who informed him that it would be necessary for him to be returned to the county in which the warrant was originally issued before he could obtain his release.

Acosta piloted Captain Eddie Rickenbacker's plane across the continent.

The Sacramento wire stated that officers from Sacramento would arrive in Oakland this afternoon to take the prisoner back for trial.

"The whole thing is a highly regrettable occurrence and no one is sorrier about it all than I am," said Acosta this morning in the city jail. "I met Miss Dodge in Sacramento last winter, while I was stationed at Mather field; but her allegation that I promised to marry her is absurd. How could I do that when I already have a wife and three children in New York?

"The whole thing has hit me pretty hard, not on account of myself, but because of the girl herself and because of my family in the East. But I think the matter can eventually be settled amicably out of court; certainly that would be best for Miss Dodge herself. The talk of marriage is simply wasting time, as she should know, but anything else I can do to make amends will be done."

Model Housekeeper and Furniture Gone

Efforts on the part of the police to throw some light on the freak burglary of the house of Harold Russell, 1734 Chase street, have been unsuccessful today, and the household furniture and also the housekeeper, have not been found.

The disappearance of the housekeeper and the household goods was simultaneous.

For several months Russell has been searching for a competent housekeeper, according to his story to the police. At last he found one that satisfied him and to celebrate the happy event, he bought a large supply of new furniture and household furbelows.

When he came home last night the house was stripped and the model housekeeper was gone. The loss is estimated at several hundred dollars.

THREAT TO SUE CITY IS MADE

Threatening to commence a suit for damages against the city unless some action is taken, A. P. Slater, 3814 Quigley street, today filed a protest with the city council complaining against the damage to the thoroughfare in front of his property caused by the breaking of a water truck traffic. The complaint was turned over to street department by the council.

A petition asking for the installation of street lights at the corner of Porter and Viola streets and at Octavia and Porter streets was presented to the city council today and was referred to the department of public health and safety. The document was signed by 34 residents in the vicinity of the two corners.

After a short hearing before the city council this morning, the Municipal Improvement company was granted an extension of 90 days to complete the improvement of Twenty-third avenue. An official of the company declared that the continuation was made necessary by the delay in getting the necessary materials.

Contracts for the improvement of D street and the improvement of Prince street between Vermont street and Lake Shore avenue were awarded today by the council to the firm of Bates and Borland.

WIFE DIVORCES YOUNG HUSBAND

Following her second attempt at a legal separation, Mrs. Helen Warner, daughter of Rev. William E. Snider, pastor of the First Christian Adventist church of San Francisco, was granted a divorce today by Superior Judge T. W. Harris from Millard Warner, son of Rev. W. H. Warner, pastor of the Pilgrim Adventist church of Berkeley, on the ground of wilful neglect.

In her first complaint Mrs. Warner charged desertion and also that her husband was convicted of a crime in Washington, but she was denied a decree because it was shown she refused to live with her husband and because the conviction in question took place before the marriage. In the present case Mrs. Warner abandoned all except the neglect charge and her youthful husband did not contest the case nor appear in court.

The couple, both of whom are little more than out of their 'teens, were married, the complaint states, February 18, 1919, and separated the next day. In his cross complaint the husband, who first sought a divorce himself on the ground of cruelty, said the marriage was a secret one and that it was agreed it should be announced at a party on the husband's twenty-first birthday at his parents' home, 1825 Berkeley Way, Berkeley. He said he had an apartment all prepared for her but that she refused to have the announcement made at that time or to live with him. The marriage was revealed later but he said his wife continued to refuse to enter [illegible] May, now six months old.

Mrs. Warner asked for $40 a month for support of the child but said she wished no money for herself as she did not wish to be obligated to her husband in any way, but Judge Harris granted her $3 a week for the child and $2 for herself, so she would not be prevented from asking for more in future should she so desire.

10,000 FALL TO DEATH YEARLY IN U. S., REPORT

Ten thousand persons in the United States lose their lives annually by falling from stepladders, kitchen ranges, barn roofs, bucking bronchoes, back steps, airplanes, telegraph poles, bicycles and other things which one may fall from, according to figures compiled by the state industrial accident commission and set forth in the commission's publication, "California Safety News."

In California from 1914 to 1919 there were 53,761 persons who slipped on banana peels, tripped over loose boards, fell from hay lofts, and dropped from skyscrapers and just plain fell in other possible ways. Of this number 457 died and 613 were totally incapacitated.

Falling objects which encountered persons and injured them were responsible for 31,561 injuries during the same period of which 441 proved fatal and 1416 caused permanent injuries.

News of the Churches

This month seems overflowing with conventions and conferences of various denominations, in which the Eastbay church-goer is interested, and still more are scheduled for next month. Yesterday the Y. W. C. A. Community Conference opened at Asilomar, that favorite "camping ground" of religious organizations, and this convention will continue up to the middle of the month. The biennial conference of the Seventh Day Adventists, holding at Beulah Park in Oakland, began Thursday of last week and will hold sessions until next Sunday. Lake Tahoe will be the scene of the Second Annual Institute of the Epworth League, which convenes today, with plans to continue until August 16. Another Asilomar convention, due August 26, is that of the Baptist Young People's Assembly.

Two important conferences for September include the Annual Conference of the United Brethren at United Brethren Church, Oakland, September 7-14, and the California Conference of the Methodist Church at First M. E. Church, scheduled for September 15.

FIRST METHODIST

Rev. John Stephens, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, preached an interesting sermon last night on the theme "When the Devil Goes House Hunting." The text was taken from Luke 11, 25:26, and is the story of Satan taking up his abode in a man's heart, finally allowing six other evil spirits to dwell with him. Dr. Stephens freely paraphrased, gave various little stories pertaining to his subject and likened the human heart unto a house for rent. "The superstitious have reason to dislike an empty house, for it soon fills with undesirable things and the owner must house-clean thoroughly and rent to reliable and trustworthy tenants before it becomes a natural home. The Jews threw out the evil spirit of idolatry, but they forgot to guard their empty house and in place of idolatry there entered evil spirits of selfrighteousness, pride, bigotry and intolerance.

"The best way of getting rid of evil and keeping rid of evil is to crowd it out with the good. The only safe person in this world is the person whose life is filled with God. We must have 'the house beautiful' in our hearts."

FIRST BAPTIST

After an absence of eight weeks Rev. John Snape, pastor of the First Baptist church, preached a sermon yesterday on the theme, "First Things First." Dr. Snape said in part.

"I once had an ambition: it was to be the pastor of a people's church. I have long since abandoned that ambition. My one ambition now is to be the pastor of that sort of a church which levels distinctions and which has but one message for bosses, and classes and masses alike. That Jesus taught the fundamental principles of love for neighbor, and the interdependence of neighbors is everywhere exemplified and amplified in the gospels.

"The Sermon on the Mount explains and inculcates the principles that determine character, and then immediately turns the individual's attention from himself to his fellow men. The first nine verses of the mountain message set forth ideal character; the other 102 verses set forth ideal conduct.

"The kingdom of God, that ideal social order in which the relation of men to God is that of sons, and to each other that of brothers"—is individualistic, socialistic, spiritual. The saved subjects of the kingdom are to have the world—they are the salt of the earth, the asceptics of society, to illumine the world — they are the world's light; to love the world they must love their enemies.

"Righteousness is a commonplace virtue and an everyday requirement. It quickly learns to put first things first. Righteousness to the villain in the gallery was only righteous emotion. A high school girl with four pillows propped up behind her back in the coziest part of the parlor sofa, and reading with bated breath and flushed cheeks the story of a young girl's heroism in a lighthouse and too much occupied to hear the clink in the other room that would convey to her the intelligence that her mother is just now washing the dishes, would have a clearer conception of righteousness if she could differentiate between personal heroism in a kitchen and fanciful heroism in a lighthouse. That is to say if she knew how to put first things first."

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST

Professor C. S. Longacre, of Washington, D. C., editor of the Liberty Magazine, spoke last night at the large pavilion tent at Beulah park, at the Seventh Day Adventist camp meeting to a good-sized audience on the subject, "Has Christianity Been a Failure?" In part he said:

"A great deal has been said by otherwise intelligent men that the world war would usher us into a new world where peace would be the dominant note, but since November 11, 1918, when the armistice of the world war was signed, more than a score of wars have been waged with all the terrors of former wars. Because of this situation, many have been ready to declare that Christianity has proven itself a failure. That depends upon what Christianity was designed to accomplish under God. If Christianity was designed under God to convert the whole world, to annihilate war through human arbitration, if it was to usher the kingdom of God into the world through human efforts and legislative reform, then certain Christianity has been a most dismal failure.

"But the gospel was given that God in his infinite love and mercy might save all who believe. The rulers of this world have no more use for Jesus Christ and his principles today than they had nineteen centuries ago. The kingdom of God will come and lasting peace will fill the earth as the waters cover the sea, but this will take place at the second coming of Christ, which is the only remedy for all the ills of this world."

ST. AUGUSTINE'S MISSION

An interesting service of yesterday was the laying of the cornerstone of the new St. Augustine's Episcopal Mission (colored), on the site of the old building, Twenty-seventh and West streets, which was attended not only by the mission congregation, but by the colored people of the community. The impressive services were under the direction of Bishop William Ford Nichols, assisted by Dean Edgar F. Gee, and a number of the clergy of the Eastbay. Led by a solo cornetist, the mission choir rendered several fine musical numbers.

It was announced that during the erection of the new church the congregation would worship at Trinity Episcopal church at stated times. Rev. D. R. Wallace is the pastor of St. Augustine's church.

ROBBERS STRIP WOMAN, SHE SAYS

That the robbers who raided the J. F. Carlston home on the night of July 16 stripped off all her clothing except her stockings, was the charge made by Mrs. Tami Ohashi, one of the chief witnesses in the case, in the preliminary examination of Edward Collins and Leo Brennon in the police court of Judge George Samuels this morning.

Mrs. Ohashi had been called to the stand after the lengthy testimony given by her husband, who is employed in the Carlston home as a butler.

"When did you first see these two men?" asked the prosecuting attorney.

LOCKED IN CLOSET.

"They came up the stairs with another man and my husband, who was tied up with ropes," said Mrs. Ohashi.

"Did they come into your room?"

"Yes. After they had thrown my husband in a closet."

"And what did they then do?"

"They tied my hands behind my back," said Mrs. Ohashi, "and then they took off my clothes—I don't know why unless they were drunk."

"Did they take them all off?" persisted the prosecuting attorney.

"Everything but my stockings, and then they threw me into a closet and locked the door," said Mrs. Ohashi.

IDENTIFIES MEN.

"They made no attempt to harm you in any way though, did they?" asked the prosecutor.

"No, they went to work then trying to open the safe with their crowbars," replied the Japanese woman.

Mrs. Ohashi identified the two men in court this morning.

Efforts by Frank Maguire, attorney for the two alleged robbers to break down the identification of the [illegible] witnesses failed. The case was continued until Wednesday morning by Judge Samuels.

Permit Is Asked to Move Liberty Hut

The request is in the hands of the street department.

Burglars Rob, Fire Los Angeles Home

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—Burglars, believed to have robbed the country home of W. G. De Classan of pictures and curios worth $20,000 and then set fire to the home to conceal the theft of the goods, were today being sought by local officers.

The De Classan home in Cold Water Canyon, near here, was almost entirely destroyed by flames early today. No one was there at the time. Tracks on the grounds indicated two auto trucks had been there to remove the stolen articles.

LEPROSY REMEDY OF U. S. SOUGHT

Negotiations for the use here of a new treatment for leprosy that was handled by the government in the service, have been opened with the bureau of the public health service of the treasury department by Health Officer Dr. Kirby Smith of Oakland, who plans to try the treatment on leper cases in the county infirmary.

In a communication today from the office of the surgeon general in Washington Dr. Smith was informed, in answer to his preliminary inquiries, that the remedy, which is known as chaulmoogra oil, is still in its experimental stage, and that it cannot be supplied yet because of the fact that the officers in charge of the experiments now being made by the government have barely enough for their own use.

Dr. Smith will renew his efforts to get some of the oil for Oakland patients as soon as the supply has been developed to such an extent that it can be distributed for public use, when he will commence experiments with the infirmary patients. The local health head became acquainted with the remedy while serving as an officer in the medical corps in the recent war.

SAN LEANDRO TO DEMAND SCHOOL IN TOWN'S HEART

SAN LEANDRO, Aug. 9.—San Leandro will not be satisfied with the proposal of the Oakland school board to build an intermediate high school at Ninety-eighth avenue and East Fourteenth street, but will demand that such a school be built in the heart of San Leandro, it was announced today.

Mayor Allen E. Pelton and A. S. Weaver are taking the lead in the plan to force the Oakland school board to build their school in San Leandro.

The Oakland school district recently annexed the San Leandro high school district over the protest of many San Leandro patrons. It is probable that if the Oakland board acquiesces in the demand to build the school in San Leandro, other plans now on foot to force a separation of the district by submitting the merger to a vote of the residents, will be dropped.

Next Monday night Mayor Pelton is to appoint a committee of representatives of the district to meet with the Oakland school board and present the demands for the new building. They will ask that it be built through funds acquired by Oakland in the recent $5,000,000 bond election.

It is said that San Leandro sent about 200 pupils to the Oakland high school last year.

Lance, 2809 Webster street, Berkeley; Russell W. Osborn, 2627 Virginia street, Berkeley, and Eugene T. Rideout of Concord.

Several Cities Seek Pickpocket Suspect

Oscar Woods, negro pickpocket suspect who was arrested Saturday night in a police trap set for him in the Sixth street free market, was charged with grand larceny this morning after an investigation into his record showed that he was known as a notorious pickpocket in many parts of the country.

Woods was arrested by Patrolmen James Dolan and William Hodgkins after he had picked the pocket of D. A. Henderson, 558 Moss avenue. Since his arrest the police have received notification from several police departments that if the Oakland police do not hold him, he is wanted for other crimes.

This morning he was identified by several persons whose pockets he picked in the Sixth street free market.

Thin-Wall Bungalow Given City Approval

Construction of one-story reinforced concrete bungalows with walls only four inches thick, will be allowed under the provisions of an ordinance passed by the city council today changing the old building code. Under the old regulations eight-inch brick walls and six-inch concrete walls were required. The new ordinance, which was approved by the municipal building department, limits the height of such walls to ten feet from floor to ceiling, confining the concession to buildings of the smaller bungalow type.

THE TEST!

Does the City of Oakland appreciate the booking of first-class theatrical attractions? Are the New York booking managers right in "jumping over" Oakland, fearful that their expensive productions will not be patronized? Why do first-class attractions add one week to the San Francisco engagements rather than play Oakland? Are the members of in saying nothing ails Oakland's theatrical tastes and patronage if Broadway stars only visit this city? This deadlock will be solved with the coming of Miss Cowl in "Smilin' Through," at Ye Liberty Theater, week of August 16. NO MORE REPRESENTATIVE ATTRACTION could be booked to test the local conditions.

Plays and Players

Orpheum—Comedy of the highest class predominates this week at the Oakland Orpheum "Rubeville," the big rural musical act featuring Harry B Watson and Reg B Merville, and "Mrs. Wellington's Surprise," a rapid-fire comedy playlet of domestic life, were equally successful in convulsing Sunday's audiences with laughter Francis Yates and Gus Read have an hilarious sketch in "Double-Crossing." Incidentally they spring a little surprise on the audience that goes over big. "A Slight Interruption," as presented by Ralph C Bevan and Beatrice Flint, is bubbling over with good comedy and music

Fulton—"The Great Lover" made his bow on the stage of the Fulton theater Sunday afternoon and if smiles and a bit of a tear in many an eye and raptured attention and keenest interest are signs of success, then "The Great Lover," as presented by the Fulton players to capacity houses, was a hit. J Anthony Smythe plays the lead. The cast is so large that a dozen players had to be added to the already big roster of the Fulton players "The Great Lover" is a French opera singer, whose fascination for the feminine sex is only equaled by the fascination they have for him. The result can be easily guessed. The life of "The Great Lover" is just one romance after another. In these romances there is a dash of wit and something of spice and plenty of fun and a world of romance and tenderness. Lillian Foster plays the role of a young American prima donna, who was one too many for "Jean Paurel," the "Great Lover The augmented cast includes John Fee, Frank Darien, Frank Wallace, Myra McKinney, George Taylor, John Ivan, Hugh Knox, Lucile Webster, Rita Porter, George Webster, Craig Ward, Ancyn McNulty, Frank Bernard, Ed Russell, Ann McNaughton and many others.

Ye Liberty—Last night saw the opening at Ye Liberty playhouse of the brief season of light opera to be offered this week by the New Bostonians with Mabel Riegelman and Jefferson De Angelis. If the other two operas meet with the popular favor that "The Prince of Pilsen" did last night, the success of the company is assured. As Hans Wagner in "The Prince of Pilsen," Jefferson De Angelis was in one of his happiest moods and the other members of the New Bostonians gave him admirable support. The piece will be repeated on Friday evening. This evening will mark the first performance in this city of "The Firefly" with Mabel Riegelman, the grand opera soprano. Miss Riegelman will sing Nina "The Firefly" will be repeated with Miss Riegelman in the role on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee. The New Bostonians will be followed next week by Jane Cowl in "Smilin' Through," marking the first visit of that notable to Oakland.

Columbia—"Up in Mary's Attic" opened a week's run at the Columbia theater yesterday afternoon and struck a popular note. The offering is billed as a girlesque revue and is certainly one of the smartest offerings of the season. The comedy and situations are up to the minute and the musical program contains many harmonious gems. The offering was gorgeously set. Harry Harrigan and Ira Robertson were the chief comedians in "Up in Mary's Attic." The musical program was one of the outstanding features of the entertainment. It started with a novelty opening staged to the lilting air of "Tripoli" and other hits were scored Millie Pedro in "When My Baby Smiles at Me"; Hazel Beer in "Tishomingo"; Blanche Ensign in "Whispering"; Edna Dillon in "The Tune You Can't Forget"; Jesse Monteson in "The Land of Old Black Joe", Genevieve Murphy in "I Love Your Lovin' and I Want It All the Time" and "I've Got the Sweetheart Blues," by Gwendolyn Evans.

Pantages—Nothing better than Mme. Doree's Celebrities as far as music is concerned, has trekked this way. When good music is mentioned in Oakland hereafter, Mme. Doree's Celebrities will come to mind They sing old music that is always new, from the standard operas Senator Murphy's discussion on politics is particularly taking at this season when everyone is talking of candidates and boomlets He has a new act crammed with funny lines Griff, a "Nut" with a lot of pep and a taking way, juggles well chats engagingly and blows bubbles between times Beth Challis canters to a hit with her songs assisted by Eddie Lambert at the piano and with a saxophone. Van and Emerson, athletes, open the bill. Coakley and Dunleavy are done in black cork and put over a military satire called "Over There"

Kinema—Charles Ray is a howling success in his latest small town comedy 'Homer Comes Home," now at the Kinema The long, lanky unsophisticated country boob with his impractical ideas has been fired from every job in his little home town [illegible] a small bank account, and by a huge bluff succeeds in making a real city out of his sleepy village The comedy is rich in homely and true-to-life complications, and a bit of rare entertainment On the same program is the inimitable Charlie Chaplin in his newest de luxe reissue of his famous comedy classic 'The Champion,' bigger and better than ever.

Franklin—Ethel Clayton has one of the most powerful themes in her newest picture, "The Ladder of Lies" now playing at the Franklin Her wonderful delineation of the young illustrator who through a white lie puts a blot on her character to save the man who is her best friend, is the best thing this popular star has done Among lavish surroundings a domestic drama of tense situations and a stirring climax is unrolled that is breath-taking in its suspense The Sunshine Bathing Beauties delight in a rollicking comedy, Hungry Lions and Tender Hearts," and an interesting Judge Brown story and the News Weekly complete the program

T. & D.—Handled with a finesse that has seen no parallel in her acting, Norma Talmadge reaches the pinnacle of her success in 'Yes or No," the current attraction at the T & D. theater The celebrated Arthur Goodrich play, which is also produced under the First National banner, affords the star her first dual role It is a wonderful character transition, from the wife of a rich, indulgent husband and again as a product of the slum. The program contains, in addition, the Bobby Vernon picture, "Kiss Me, Caroline" Dr. Carlos De Mandil's concerts, two vaudeville acts, Stella Jelica and Jessiynne Cooley and the T & D News Weekly round out a splendid program

Broadway—"The Adventurer" will show William Farnum in the starring role of one of his best pictures for the last time at the Broadway theater today Farnum has the portrayal of a knight of old The theme carries romance and thrill and is well produced. "Sheriff Nell's Comeback," a Sunshine comedy, with a laugh in every foot of film, is the second feature of an enjoyable program

American—"Tarzan," son of the wilds, and brother of the ape, lives his wild life and fights his primeval battles in "The Return of Tarzan." The play is a triumph. The jungle man, scion of nobility but, lost in the forest, nursed to manhood—or rather animalhood—by a she ape, is a character unique in any literature On the same bill at the American Little Johnny Jones reaps fresh laurels as "Edgar Pomeroy," the quaint boy character of Booth Tarkington. "Edgar Takes the Cake" is a laugh from start to finish—and a memory of one's own boyhood

Neptune—Perfect weather greeted the record crowd at Neptune Beach, Alameda, yesterday when the first annual canoe race and fiesta was held in the bay off the beach. Bart Coffin and Eddie Roper were the stars of a very thrilling race, which was from Alameda pier to Neptune a distance of three miles The big roller racing coaster, to which many improvements have been made, was the big carrier of the joy riders At the Neptune Palace theater Tom Mix starred in "The Cyclone"

Idora—Sunday throngs at Idora park were entertained with a game of motorcycle polo in the open-air stadium. Teams from Oakland and Vallejo furnished the excitement and kept the spectators on their toes from start to finish This was the third game in the championship series Polo as played on motorcycles has developed into the most thrilling attraction ever presented at Idora park Payson's popular band, the dancing pavilion and the [illegible] rides helped to entertain the Sunday visitors Idora's big swimming tank and palm beach drew its quota during the morning and afternoon Thursday at Idora will be known as Grocers' Day Thousands of free admissions and concessions rides are being distributed through the grocery stores of Alameda county to all patrons.

Arcadia—Oakland's new dancing pavilion has taken Eddie Horton, famous pianist and organist away from San Francisco Horton, who has been with the California theater will take charge of Arcadia's orchestra, making his first appearance on Monday evening, August 16 Thursday evening will be fox-trot night, when the best dancers of the Eastbay will compete in a prize fox-trot. Cash prizes will be offered On next Saturday and Sunday afternoons, Manager Fisher will inaugurate a series of "indoor picnic' dances.

Humor Pathos Romance

An O. HENRY Story a Day

The Making of a New Yorker

Besides many other things Raggles was a poet. He was called a tramp; but that was only an elliptical way of saying that he was a philosopher, an artist, a traveler, a naturalist and a discoverer But most of all he was a poet In all his life he never wrote a line of verse, he lived his poetry. His Odyssey would have been a Limerick, had it been written But, to linger with the primary proposition, Raggles was a poet

Two thousand miles to the north and south east and west, Raggles wandered in poetic fervor, taking the cities to his breast He footed it on [illegible] and rode magnificently in freight cars, counting time as of no account. And when he had found the heart of a city and listened to its secret confession, he strayed on, restless, to another Fickle Raggles!—but perhaps he had not met the civic corporation that could engage and hold his critical fancy

Through the ancient poets we have learned that the cities are feminine. So they were to poet Raggles, and his mind carried a concrete and clear conception of the figure that symbolized and typified each one that he had wooed

Chicago seemed to swoop down upon him with a breezy suggestion of Mrs Partington, plumes and patchouli and to disturb his rest with a roaring and beautiful song of future promise But Raggles would awake to a sense of shivering cold and a haunting impression of ideals lost in a depressing aura off potato salad and fish

Thus Chicago affected him Perhaps there is a vagueness and inaccuracy in the description, but that is Raggle's fault He should have recorded his sensations in magazine poems

Pittsburg impressed him as the play of Othello performed in the Russian language in a railroad station by Dockstader's minstrels. A royal and generous lady this Pittsburg, though—homely, hearty, with flushed face, washing the dishes in a silk dress and white kid slippers, and bidding Raggle's fault e should have recorded and drunk champagne with his pigs' feet and fried potatoes

New Orleans had simply gazed down upon him from a balcony He could see her pensive, starry eyes and catch the flutter of her fan, and that was all Only once he came face to face with her It was at dawn, when she was flushing the red bricks of the banquette with a pail of water She laughed and hummed a chanson ette and filled Raggles's shoes with ice-cold water Allons!

Boston construed herself to the poetic Raggles in an erratic and singular way It seemed to him that he had drunk cold tea and that the city was a white, cold cloth that had been bound tightly around his brow to spur him to some unknown but tremendous mental effort And, after all, he came to shovel snow for a livelihood, and the cloth, becoming wet, tightened its knots and could not be removed

Indefinite and unintelligible ideas, you will say but your disapprobation should be tempered with gratitude, for these are poets' fancies—and suppose you had come upon them in verse!

One day Raggles came and laid siege to the heart of the great city of Manhattan. She was the greatest of all, and he wanted to learn her note in the scale, to taste and appraise and classify and solve and label her and arrange her with the other cities that had given him up the secret of their individuality. And here we cease to be Raggles' translator and become his chronicler.

Raggles landed from a ferry-boat one morning and walked into the core of the town with the blase air of a cosmopolite He was dressed with care to play the role of an "unidentified man" No country, race, class, clique union, party, clan or bowling association could have claimed him His clothing, which had been donated to him piece-meal by citizens of different height, but [illegible] of [illegible] around the heart, was not yet as uncomfortable to his figure as those specimens of raiment, self-measured, that are railroaded to you by transcontinental tailors with a suit case, suspenders, silk handkerchief and pearl studs as a bonus Without money—as a poet should be—but within the ardor of an astronomer discovering a new star in the chorus of the milky way or a man who has seen ink suddenly flow from his fountain pen, Raggles wandered into the great city

Late in the afternoon he drew out of the roar and commotion with a look of dumb terror on his countenance He was defeated puzzled, discomfited, frightened Other cities had been to him as long primer to read, as country maidens quickly to fathom, as send price-of-subscription-with-answer rebuses to solve, as oyster cocktails to swallow, but here was one as cold glittering, serene, impossible as a four-carat diamond in a window to a lover outside fingering damply in his pocket his ribbon-counter salary

The greetings of the other cities he had known—their homespun kindliness their human gamut of rough charity, friendly curses garrulous curiosity and easily estimated credulity or indifference This city of Manhattan gave him no clue, it was walled against him. Like a river of adamant it flowed past him in the streets Never an eye was turned upon him, no voice spoke to him His heart yearned for the clap of Pittsburg's sooty hand on his shoulder; for Chicago's menacing but social yawp in his ear, for the pale and pleasmosynary stare through the Bostonian eyeglass—even for the precipitate but unmalicious boot-toe of Louisville or St. Louis.

On Broadway Raggles, successful suitor of many cities, stood bashful, like any country swain For the first time he experienced the poignant humiliation of being ignored. And when he tried to reduce this brilliant, swiftly changing, ice-cold city to a formula he failed utterly Poet though he was, it offered him no color similes, no points of comparison no flaw in its polished facets no handle by which he could hold it up and view its shape and structure, as he familiarly and often contemptuously had done with other towns The houses were interminable ramparts loopholed for defense the people were bright but bloodless spectres passing in sunless and selfish array

The thing that weighed heaviest on Raggles soul and clogged his poet's fancy was the spirit of absolute egotism that seemed to saturate the people as toys are saturated with paint. Each one that he considered appeared a monster of abominate and insolent conceit. Humanity was gone from them, they were toddling idols of stone and varnish, worshipping themselves and greedy for though oblivious of worship from their fellow graven images Frozen, cruel, implacable impervious cut to an identical pattern, they hurried on their ways like statues brought by some miracles to motion, while soul and feeling lay unaroused in the resultant marble.

Gradually Raggles became conscious of certain types One was an elderly gentleman with a snow-white, short beard, pink, unwrinkled face and stony, sharp blue eyes, attired in the fashion of a gilded youth who seemed to personify the city's wealth, ripeness and frigid unconcern Another type was a woman, tall beautiful, clear as a steel engraving, goddess-like calm, clothed like the princesses of old, with eyes as coldly blue as the reflection of sunlight on a glacier And another was a by-product of this town of marionettes—a broad swaggering grim, threateningly sedate fellow, with a jowl as large as a harvested wheat field, the complexion of a baptized infant and the knuckles of a prize-fighter. This type leaned against cigar signs and viewed the world with frapped contumely

A poet is a sensitive creature and Raggles soon shriveled in the bleak embrace of the undecipherable The chill, sphinx-like, ironical, illegible, unnatural, ruthless expression of the city left him downcast and bewildered Had it no heart? Better the woodpile, the scolding of vinegar-faced housewives at back doors, the kindly spleen of bartenders behind provincial free-lunch counters, the amiable truculence of rural constables, the kicks, arrests and happy-go-lucky chances of the other vulgar, loud, crude cities than this freezing heartlessness

Raggles summoned his courage and sought alms from the populace Unheeding, regardless, they passed on without the wink of an eyelash to testify that they were conscious of his existence And then he said to himself that this fair but pitiless city of Manhattan was without a soul, that its inhabitants were manikins moved by wires and springs, and that he was alone in a great wilderness

Raggles started to cross the street

MY HEART and HUSBAND

by ADELE GARRISON

How Mother Graham's Attitude Was Transformed.

"I am afraid of it," I assented, "but on the other hand it also shows that their case is not so strong as they wish, that they are trying to bolster it in every way they can Now please do this for me. If any man comes to see you again, refer him to me I have a friend with much experience in these matters, who is anxious to see him if he appears again. Do not hint that I know him, simply say that you don't know anything about the case but Mrs. Graham may. He probably will come to see me again anyway."

"If I only could have your poise and bravery," sighed Alice Holcombe. "I do not know myself these days, I am so weak and trembling"

Katie's appearance with our iced beverages, prevented my answering But after Alice Holcombe had gone, I smiled in ironic bitterness at her estimate of me. For the very thought of again seeing the mysterious man who had tried to get Kenneth Stockbridge's papers from me had set me trembling with apprehension.

My mother-in-law came back from her drive in high good humor. I might have known that she would do so, for she is like a child in her enjoyment of any outing, like one also in her pouting disappointment if she has to stay at home for any lenght of time. Of course, she had not forgotten nor quite forgiven the fancied offense she had against us, but she managed to convey her willingness to overlook old scores while still sitting in judgment upon us in rather clever fashion.

"This is the most remarkable child," she announced as she entered my room, turning as she spoke to Dicky, who was following her with Junior perched rapturously upon his shoulder.

Dicky managed to wink at me without his mother seeing him. It conveyed more than mischief at her attitude. It was recognition of the fact well known in our household since the birth of our little son that our quarrels may be healed, all misunderstandings smoothed over, if some one will only start the all absorbing topic of Junior's perfections.

"He sat up and looked at everything as if he were 20 instead of 1," Mother Graham continued fondly.

"You wrong my son," Dicky declared grandiloquently. "If he had been 20 he would have given no such impartial attention to the beauties of Marvin scenery All his eyes would have been adsorbed by the pretty girls along the way. And just think of the way he drove the car! I put him on my lap, with his hands on the wheel, and I give you my word that when I took my own hands off he guided the car for a whole block as well as I could Of course, I kept my own hands ready in case—"

"Dicky'" I gasped in horrified indignation 'You didn't—"

"Well, Margaret¼" my mother-in-law interrupted tartly, "all I've got to say is that, if you can't tell yet when your husband is uttering such a barefaced falsehood as that, you're a bigger fool than I took you for."

HARMONY ESTABLISHED

If she had added the usual homely phrase, "and that's useless," she could not have accented her meaning more pointedly.

"Although I have no doubt," she went on, turning her attention to her son, "that Richard would be perfectly capable of trying some such fool stunt if he had no one to restrain him. But kindly remember that I had charge of Richard, Second, and when he is with his grannymuzzer him is perfectly safe, yes him is, darling lamby-bird."

This sudden transition in manner and vocabulary was due to the fact that Junior suddenly stretched out his baby arms to his grandmother, an appeal she can never resist, and the last part of her sentence was mumbled against his rose-leaf cheek.

"We are always sure of that, mother," I said softly, all irritation at her provoking manner being swept away by this reminder of the adoration she felt for our little son

"Well you can be" she retorted shortly, but I knew that the little tribute had touched her, for a minute later she turned to Dicky sharply

'What on earth are you gawking around for?" she demanded tartly "If you're going to teach Margaret to drive, you'd better be starting It'll be dark before you get out of the village, and the girl doesn't want to have the whole town gawping at her."

With Junior in her arms she swept out of the room. Dicky shut the door softly, then turned to me, grinning broadly.

"Your stock's going up," he murmured. "Before she went for the drive you were known as 'your wife,' with glacial aloofness. Now you are 'the girl,' and there is actually a friendly note in her voice. Come on, let's beat it while the beating's good. Gee, but you're the nifty-looking chauffeuse! But where's your motor coat and veil?"

"Those are for the trenches, Dicky" I explained. "If I'm going to learn how to drive I want elbow sleeves, and nothing in my way. I have this light sweater if I get chilly."

"No danger today of anything getting chilly except your feet," Dicky commented teasingly "Those are likely to need a hot-water bag before you get home."

"If only you don't suffer from that affliction," I retorted, "when I first take hold of the wheel, I shall be satisfied"

(To be continued)

He was runnin' down me town, said Raggles

'What town?" asked the nurse

"Noo York," said Raggles

This is Better Than Laxatives

One NR Tablet Each Night For A Week Will Correct Your Constipation and Make Constant Dosing Unnecessary. Try It.

Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination means clogged bowels, fermentation, putrifaction and the formation of poisonous gases which are absorbed by the blood and carried through the body.

The result is weakness, headaches, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive liver, bilious attacks, loss of energy, nervousness, poor appetite, impoverished blood, sallow complexion, pimples skin disease, and often times serious illness.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics—salts, oils, calomel and the like—may relieve for a few hours, but real, lasting benefit can only come through use of medicine that tones up and strengthens the digestive as well as the eliminative organs.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Relief will follow the very first dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the fullest benefit. When you get straightened out and feel just right again you need not take medicine every day—an occasional NR Tablet will then keep your system in good condition and you will always feel your best. Remember, keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) are sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

A New Idea About Thrift as Applied to the Washday Problem

A woman used to be thought thrifty if she did all the baking, all the preserving, all the sewing, all the washing—in a word, if she toiled from morn till night, she was called "Thrifty."

The thrifty woman today is the woman who can get all these things done economically and still have time for recreation and self-improvement.

A thrifty solution of the washday problem will be found in the Family Laundry Service of the modern laundries of the East Bay Cities. Their pound rate is so moderate there's double economy—many valuable hours saved, and release from the thraldom of the tub. Any one of the modern laundries of the East Bay Cities can take over the heavy duties of wash day, leaving for you only the less irksome task of ironing a few of the lighter pieces.

Your bundle is called for and washed scrupulously clean by simple, sanitary methods that remove dirt and prolong the life of the fabric. Things like bath towels are fluffily dried; the flat pieces are wonderfully ironed, and such other articles as need it are nicely starched. Your whole washing is finally returned to you as clean and sweet as only satiny-soft rain water and pure white soap can make it—returned punctually.

And it's so truly thrifty. The modern laundry you choose, does three-quarters of the work of washday, you, only an agreeable one-quarter. The cost is surprisingly moderate.

Try this new Thrift—a telephone call to any one of the modern laundries of the East Bay Cities will bring a route representative.

TALK WON'T PRODUCE OIL.

On the eve of a national political campaign the administration at Washington fulminates daily about the danger of a petroleum monopoly by Great Britain and France.

It permits a lot of guff to be circulated to the effect that it is ready to protest any action on the part of foreign business or governments in foreign countries that will not conform to the best interest of Americans.

It announces that it is necessary that American citizens obtain control of oil fields in foreign countries and develop them to a producing stage for the benefit and the safety of American shipping and commerce.

Now, if the administration possesses an iota of sincerity, if it expects the American people to believe for one minute its new asservations, it will demonstrate by action that it will protect American citizens engaged in legitimate business in foreign countries.

What about Mexico and seven years of heartless, craven, shameful abandonment of American citizens to every form and degree of outrage, including the taking of their lives and the confiscation of their property?

What about the foolish, harmful repudiation seven years ago of American capital and business in China?

What about the declaration of seven years ago, which has never been recalled, that the American government and the flag will not follow the American citizen and his dollar into foreign lands?

Governor Cox, Democratic candidate for the Presidency, said Saturday this was the time for straight thinking, straight talking and straight action. Yet the Democratic administration which he aspires continue for another eight years indulges in crooked thinking and conversational buncombe.

THE PILGRIMS.

President Wilson has proclaimed that December 21 shall be celebrated as a national holiday. This date will be the three hundredth anniversary of the arrival of the schooner Mayflower, with its precious crew of Pilgrims aboard, at the Massachusetts coast. Much has transpired since that historic date and if commemorating it did no more than provoke retrospection of the progress of the American people in three centuries it would be beneficial.

A certain event on Golgotha hill nearly two thousand years ago has had a larger effect upon the thought of the humanity, but it is to be doubted that any event has exerted a more substantial influence on human affairs than the coming of the Pilgrims to the American continent. Certainly no passenger list in the records of ocean travel ever has received or deserved so much attention.

Sociologists may say that a fourth of the blood of the United States today originated in the colonial settlers of New England. But the riches in ideals and aspirations, the genius of the composite mind and of the government and life, which have been derived from the original Anglo Saxon settlements of New England are to be measured in a much larger proportion.

It is almost the exact literal truth when we refer to the Pilgrims as the founders of the nation. There were settlements before and other settlements after the landing from the Mayflower, but they were commercial ventures sponsored by private trading companies or the British government in trade, or were outposts for the protection of trading interests. And because of this fact they were not a success as colonial settlements.

The Pilgrims were the first actual success at colonization in North America. They came over in the right spirit. They came on their own initiative to found a new home for themselves and their posterity in a new world. Before the emigration from England, one of their number summed up correctly in a letter to a friend when he wrote they were "well weaned from ye delicate milke of our mother countrie and enured to ye difficulties of a strange and hard land," and as "industrious and frugall, we thinke we may safly say, as any company of people in the world." There was not with them as with others, any "whom small things can discourage or small discontentments cause to wish them selves home againe."

With such vision, such determination, the Pilgrims crossed the Atlantic in the summer of 1620 to found a new nation. Their oppressions and sufferings at home had caused them to turn to this new land and they started for it without any thought of returning to their native land. The younger members of the Mayflower's party were permitted to know that they had laid the foundation of a great nation and that their early visions would be realized.

Their resolutions to face unflinchingly the hardships of the new land was well taken. Their courage and tenacity became a splendid example for succeeding generations of Americans. When they arrived at Plymouth they saw "a hidious & desolate wildernes, full of wild beasts & wild men," a coast in winter "sharp and violent, & subject to cruell & fierce stormes." But they came for conscience's sake and they did not shrink.

A pageant was held in Southampton, England, last week to commemorate the sailing of the Pilgrims from that harbor. There will be many other celebrations throughout the year. It is becoming that we observe the contributions of the Pilgrims to a United States of America by a public holiday in December. All who realize that never since the establishment of the Republic has the country so needed the Pilgrim spirit, their courage, a little of their moral rigidity, and all of their industry, know that it is fitting we revive the Pilgrim example and keep it freshly before us always.

MORE GERMAN OBSTRUCTION.

Germany is again showing her connection with the Bolshevist plot in Russia. She protests the sending of Allied armies across her territory to aid in the defense of the Polish republic, created by the treaty of Versailles to which Germany is a signatory power.

There is an attempt to camouflage the German obstruction by describing it as a threat of the railroad workers to go on strike if German railways are used for the transportation of Allied troops. There is also another threat that the coal miners of the Saar region will go on strike unless the agreement for the administration of the region under the peace treaty is modified.

Here is exemplified the treachery of Germany made so familiar to the world during the war. The government tries to transfer the burden of violating the treaty to the German people, the workers. After every other effort has failed the scheme for avoiding compliance with the treaty is to agitate strikes, stop industry, create idleness and public suffering.

The Allies were quite frank and straightforward in dealing with the German delegation at Spa. They exacted promises of compliance with the treaty, under threat that failure would mean occupation of more German territory. They should be equally direct and plain-spoken in connection with these latest threats the Berlin government makes openly. They should use the German railroads to transport troops and military supplies for the aid of Poland, and if the German workers, in obedience to the orders of their government, quit work the Allies should take over the operation of the needed lines.

In the matter of the Saar basin, if the miners go on strike, in obedience to their government, Allied workers and administration staffs should take over the operation of the mines for the benefit of Allied needs.

Moral responsibility, contractual obligations and honor hangs so lightly upon the German government as it still is constituted that force is the only sure and safe way of obtaining fulfillment of the treaty. There should be no further recession from the Allied determination to exact fulfillment of the treaty.

The Socialists of France are reported to be anxious to aid the Russian Bolshevists, while the Socialists of Vienna have adopted resolutions condemning the Bolshevists. Thus again the Socialists pull in opposite directions.

PATRIOTISM AND BEAUTY.

The civics art program of a Middle Western city announces a series of meetings to consider the subject "The Patriotism of Beauty." Here is something like a distant echo of that feeling which found expression in the speech of the Prince of Wales before an association of English artists in which the prince undertook to direct the attention of his hearers to the beauties of the countryside. His particular reference was to the replacing of ugly and eye-offending signs by more attractive ones but the same general note of "patriotism for beauty" sounded through his speech.

It is predicted that something like a general awakening to the civic value of aesthetics is abroad in the land. The motorist today can scarcely fail to be impressed with the manifestation of aesthetic pride and interest in the localities through which he passes. Road sides are beautified where formerly only the roads themselves received practical attention, crossroads signs, formerly unattractive enough, however serviceable, are designed now to be pleasing to the eye, in some sections scarcely a town but has consecrated one spot to it park or grove, as a thing lovely to look upon. And in some localities more fortunate than others in historical associations hallowed spots are set apart and are designated for the tourist by artistic legend-bearing signs. It is as though the community had said: "We are not content to minister to the body, in material things; we would minister unto the spirit also in ways that are beautiful."

It is a story somewhat old in time-hallowed and haunted localities of the Old World. Generation after generation, living and dying, there begets a deep-rooted and holy affection for place. If this element has been tardy to find expression in America it is only necessary to recall that we have been a new people in a habitation that is new, our concerns the concerns of the pioneer in a strange and virgin land. The awakening desire to make our places of abode more beautiful is as much the flowering of that hallowed affection for place as it is a recognition of the civic value of beauty.—New York Evening Post.

NOTES and COMMENT

The Ukiah Press furnishes an Oakland item: "The high cost of living is not confined to the bay cities, according to George Berg, Oakland sportsman, who was arrested at his Anderson valley camp Tuesday by Game Warden Bert Miller and Constable Joseph Weselskey. He was accused of killing a spike buck. Berg pleaded guilty before Judge Hurley and paid a fine of $50. Now he is gunning for a San Francisco nimrod, who has a camp near his own. Berg says the San Franciscan 'squealed' on him when he refused to divide the meat."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

An announcement of particular interest to the people of Pittsburg and many friends in Antioch and vicinity was the appointment of W. E. Creed as president of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company. This is another distinct honor conferred upon Mr. Creed, who is already president of the East Bay Water Company of Oakland, C. A. Hooper & Company and the Columbia Steel Company, Pittsburg, and a director of the Wells-Fargo National Bank of the bay city. In addition he handles an immense volume of law business and has been exceptionally successful ever since graduating from the State University.—Antioch Ledger.

The Sacramento Bee has made a wild attack on the University of California, closing with a recommendation that the buildings of the great institution of learning ought to be razed to the ground. The Bee is an excellent paper, but its outbursts on some subjects are hard to understand. There can be no forgiving this attack on the University of California and no use in mincing words about it. It is simply an atrocious lie from start to finish.—Concord Transcript

Salt water from Suisun bay has penetrated the fresh waters of the San Joaquin river to Antioch, rendering the water there unfit for domestic uses. In order to mitigate the situation Trustee H. J. Schumann, chairman of the water committee of the Antioch Board of Trustees, has ordered the delivery by wagon tanks of water from wells to each patron of the municipal plant. Five gallons of water each day is to be the quota for each family, and those who have cisterns are urged to refrain from taking water from the wagon until the supply in the cisterns has been exhausted.—Rio Vista News.

THOSE WERE THE HAPPY DAYS.

NORTH AFRICAN ARABS

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (Special Correspondence).—Does Northern Africa, divided as it is into spheres of influence foreign in race and even to the continent, think of what is going on in the East and Near East? Is it attentive to the unrest in Mohammedan India and Egypt, to a Jewish Palestine; to the death-struggle of the hated Turk with his ancient enemy, the Greek, at last unleashed by the allies to fly at his throat—above all, of the new Arab state? Do they plot any stroke for Arab dominance, the Arabs of Morocco, Tunis, Algiers and Tripoli?

If the Arab of Northern Africa is brooding upon the break-up of Asia Minor, he is keeping very, very still about it. If he cares very much for the establishment of an Arabian nation, or resents a Hebrew Palestine, or is torn between delight at the plight of the Turkish oppressor and disgust that Christian dogs should administer chastening to Mohammedans, it is not apparent on the surface.

Charles Devine has been deep into the native city of Albiers, a sort of listening-chamber for the rumors of the desert, and of the race on the western side of the Red Sea, and he reports that natives as chronically restless under foreign dominion, but always more as grumblers giving vent to idle mutterings than plotters with a sharpened point of purpose.

Now, if the French should attempt to straighten out the tortuous streets of the old city, he says in the August Century, that would be different—they would then have a real rebellion on their hands!

The Arabs knew him for an American.

"'When are the Americans coming over?' asked more than one Arab.

"'What for?'

"'To govern us. We don't like the French.'

"In vain do you point ou the wonderful feats the French have accomplished since their conquest of Algeria less than a century ago; the Arab only looks at you sharply and shakes his head. He would do the same if the colonizers had been American, English or Hottentot; and the better informed Arabs, those highest in the Mussulman ranks, will at length fall back on the truth and admit that what they want is just one thing, to be left alone.

"Thus the French have done, it seems to a traveler in Algeria today, in a fair enough measure, and particularly in the Kasbah, as the native quarter of Algiers is called, although the name applies more strictly to the ancient Turkish fortress that crowned the summit before the Christian conquerors came over from France.

"Every day the Arabs are increasing. In Algiers and the Kasbah the population has not only been augmented by births but also by the influx of people from the hills and plateaus.

"Perhaps it was necessity that prompted the French to yield in no small measure to the Arab's wish to be left alone, for it is whispered up and down the windowless walls of the Arab city that a French policeman does not dare penetrate there by night."

It does not mean much. The Arab is a fierce warrior, but until the iron has entered his soul he has better things to do than to hatch revolts. Mr. Devine says:

"* * * There is too much glorious sunlight. The Arab stretches out and begins to dream. He dreams and begins to doze. He dozes and then sleeps. He exists and ceases to live. It is a voluptuous suicide.

"If he has no home, there is always an Arab cafe, and Arab cafes are always crowded. At their open doorways you will see two burnoosed clad, friends meet after a long absence of perhaps half a day, and kiss each other on the forehead. Then they say 'How are you?' to each other in the following fashion:

"'Peace.'

"'Peace be with thee.'

"'What's your news?' 'Is your strength good?' 'Is everybody at your home all right?'

"'Yes; may Allah bless you! May Allah keep you well!'

"* * * In side streets or dark, grimy alleyways are beggars lying on the cobblestones, exercising the right to live according to their wishes and their fantasies; to be born without being registered by bothersome administrative functionaries, to grow big without being vaccinated to be naked and poor if they want to, to beg at the gates, to sleep under the stars, and to die without formality. Above them captive nightingales are singing in their cages."

Also, the Arab has distractions:

"* * * Here, in a niche at the right, lurks the rue Barbarousse, a street of painted lintels and painted mauresques. Named after the famous Barbary pirate who ruled the Mediterranean in the sixteenth century, the rue Barbarousse strikes the wanderer's attention with startling abruptness. Flaunting gaiety is here. No longer the somber, closed doors and silent, whitewashed walls.

"In contrast to the dark cobblestones, a flight of lovely tinted steps leads to a doorway flooded with a wash of sapphire paint, like a surge of summer waves. A slim figure mounts the stairway. The painted doorway is significant. It means that inside are found the women who sell their love.

"From this house the rue Barbarousse makes a sudden lurch to the right. In its rambling continuation, and in its sister street called the rue Katarougli, are more lintels in hues of light blue, pink and gold. All of the inhabitants are not indoors. Many of them are lolling at their portals, displaying a gaudier luxury of color than even their doorsteps.

"Filets of gay cloth bind their brows, or fantastic marks of tatooing show on foreheads between eyes blackened with kohl. Blouses of lace hang about careless shoulders, vivid foutas girdle garments at the waist, serrouals cling to lithe limbs. bracelets of gold dangle on proud arms, and silver anklets clink above naked saffron feet stained with henna. Faces are unveiled and thick with powder; cheeks with a splotch of crimson paint. A chin has a beauty-spot of gilt paper, and lips are rouged beyond redemption.

Mr. Devine's native companion had evidently been there on previous occasions:

"Guelmine Ali appears to be well known in this street, so much at home that he pushes away those who would impede our progress, and others, whom he does not brush aside, come up to him with kisses and embraces. All except a few flee at the sight of a camera. They vanish through doorways and throw themselves on low divans in the dark patios within. The street is suddenly deserted."

It is not the Arab Mr. Devine whom Guelmine Ali holds in a spell found still dreaming his long dreams and enmeshed in idleness and sensuality that need disturb the foreign offices of France and Italy.

THE DESERTED GARDEN.

Under the sagging arch of vines
The rustic gate still swings,
And just inside, a gnarled old tree,
In which a redbird sings.
Down grass grown paths where long ago
The sweet alyssum marked the way,
The vine entangled dial stands
Shadowless through the day.

The crumbling fountain's song is stilled,
The bowl is filled with sodden leaves;
The old stone seat, moss stained and gray,
For old companions mutely grieves.
Only a wandering butterfly
Comes near to kiss the rose,
Or a quivering silver humming bird
Dips where the poppy grows.

Through mists of silvery, shadowy dusks,
In hours of deepening gray,
The happy spirits steal a-down
The old remembered way:
their tryst
There phantom sweethearts keep
Beneath the sheltering boughs,
And whispered benedictions rise
In love's replighted vows.

Mrs. Olive Grady of Montana was killed and C. G. Hasse, Mrs. Clara Hall, Mrs. A. W. Norton and Mrs. Anne Inman, all of Napa, were seriously hurt last night two miles from Sonoma, on the county road, when their seven-passenger car turned turtle.

The total auto accident casualties for the week-end are:

Neither Dixon nor Mrs. Dijeau was seriously injured, although the latter had her nose broken.

Manuel Mirando is said to be dying at the Providence hospital from internal injuries and a seriously fractured arm, resulting from being run down by an automobile driven by A. N. Delanoy, 1313 Versailles avenue, Alameda at Eighty-first avenue and East Fourteenth street.

RUN DOWN IN DARK.

David Burns was run down by P. R. Scott of San Rafael and killed early Sunday on the Corte Madera grade. Byrnes, with two other men, were driving a truckload of lumber to his summer home in Lansdale and had stepped off the truck in the dark at the side of the car when Scott drove by. Scott hit Byrnes and passed over him. Byrnes' chest was crushed and he was taken to Ross sanitarium, where he died while an operation was being performed. Scott was not arrested, as Byrnes exonerated him.

Farley was run down and killed on Folsom boulevard on the outskirts of Sacramento by an unknown motorist, who sped away, Saturday night. Howard, his companion, was seriously injured.

When Charles Ammon, of 132-A Coleridge street, San Francisco, ran down and hurt Frank Jones, sailor, he was not arrested at the request of [illegible] treated for a broken collarbone and lacerations.

Stewart Cosgrove, of 752 Ninth avenue, San Francisco, who drove the car that struck down 9-year-old Ethel Olson Saturday evening at Pine and Divisadero, took the child to the Mount Zion hospital, where she was treated for contusions of the face and body.

RAMMED BY STAGE.

Miss Exie Robinson and Mrs. Myrtle Brown were thrown from their automobile Sunday morning when it was rammed by an automobile stage driven by J. S. Davis at Ninety-sixth avenue and East Fourteenth street. Miss Robinson's left shoulder was broken and she was badly cut. Mrs. Brown suffered lacerations.

The accident in which Mrs. Grady was killed and four others hurt occurred near the Hyde ranch on the county road near Sonoma when C. G. Hasse in making a turn, upset the machine. The passengers were pinned underneath. Passing motorists took the injured to Napa and the body of Mrs. Gray to Sonoma where she has been the guest of Mrs. Hall. The machine belonged to Mrs. Norton, member of a prominent family living near Napa.

Deputy Marshal Creeks received fatal injuries from which he died when his machine plunged backward down a steep embankment carrying Mrs. Creeks, Delbert, 12, and Harry, 8, into the creek bed below on Dublin road Saturday afternoon about a mile west of Dublin. Creeks suffered a broken spine, a fractured skull and broken jaws. Mrs. Creeks was unconscious when removed to the Alameda sanitarium, but the boys were only scratched.

Pretty Woman Is Sought For Bold Theft From Auto

BERKELEY, Aug. 9.—A plump and pretty female Raffles is being sought by the Berkeley police today following the bold theft yesterday afternoon of $73 worth of lingerie from the automobile of Mrs. A. Bowman, 2120 Kittredge street. The machine was standing in front of a restaurant at Shattuck and University avenues while Mrs. Bowman was having lunch. When she returned two Gladstone bags were missing.

L. F. Agnew, former member of the Oakland police department, said he saw a woman with two bags answering the description of those of Mrs. Bowman crossing Shattuck avenue at the time the theft occurred. He describes her as about 40 years old, plump, with a green sweater and small hat.

RICKEY'S ESTATE TOTALS $216,731

Thomas B. Rickey, retired cattleman and banker, who died in Berkeley on January 11, left an estate valued at $216,731, according to an appraisement filed with County Clerk George Gross. The estate consists entirely of stocks, bonds and mortgages. The three principal items are: One hundred and forty-five bonds of the Antelope Valley Land and Cattle company, $130,500; fifty-eight first mortgage bonds of the Nevada-California Power company, $46,400; twenty-three bonds of the East Bay Water company, $20,930.

In a will dated August 14, 1918, Rickey stated that his entire estate was personal property. To his widow, Mrs. Alice Belle Rickey, 4 Encinal place, Berkeley, was left a bequest of $5000 and a life interest in the estate when it accrues to a daughter, Alice Brinley Rickey. The daughter is directed to pay allowance of $100 a month and all medical expenses necessary for the care of Mrs. Anna Plate, San Francisco, a sister of Rickey.

COUNSEL FOR METSON YOUTH CLAIMS ANIMUS

Intimations that the district attorneys office was more than usually interested in prosecuting this case, and that Deputy District Attorney Theodore Wittschen was already showing animus toward the defendant, was the ground upon which Attorney W. H. L. Hynes opened the defense of Wilfred G. Metson, university student, before Judge W. M. Finch of Glenn county today. Judge Finch is presiding in place of Judge James G. Quinn, who started on his vacation today.

With his father, Attorney W. H. Metson of San Francisco, on his left, and Mrs. J. E. Linderburg, his aunt, on his right, young Metson was in court to defend himself on the charge of speeding away from an automobile accident without lending assistance. The accident in question happened on May 4 on the Foothill boulevard, near the county hospital.

PETERSON KILLED

With three other students in his car, young Metson was driving a Stutz which ran down and killed Emil Petersen and seriously injured Anna Jensen. The speeding car, which is alleged to have been going at an excessive pace, carried the body of Petersen for over 100 feet, it is charged. Metson did not stop to render aid and his car was found the next day concealed among eucalyptus trees more than a mile from the scene of the accident. Metson later surrendered to the police.

At that time Metson claimed that he thought the figures in the road were men seeking to hold up his party so he drove right through and did not stop. No indications of what the defense would be based upon was given during the examination of jurors today.

In questioning the first juror Attorney Hynes said:

"You will notice that the attitude of the prosecution is one of aggression. You will not let the attitude of the district attorney's office influence you into giving a biased verdict, will you?"

PROTEST IS MADE

This question asked of Mrs. Etta Genung, prospective juror, immediately brought a protest from Prosecutor Wittschen.

"The question propounded is entirely improper," declared Wittschen.

"We know the common rumor that the district attorney's office seeks to influence the jury," declared Hynes to the court.

"Counsel knows this to be false," retorted Wittschen. "He is seeking to engender prejudice in the minds of the jury."

Remarking that the question had been answered, Judge Finch overruled the objection.

"You will not be afraid to render a just verdict in this case, although the prosecution may perhaps endeavor to keep you off of any other jury, will you?" was another question asked of the juror.

50-HOUR MAIL SERVICE BETWEEN COASTS POSSIBLE

Proving conclusively that transcontinental air service can be made practicable, that the scheduled time from New York to Oakland may be cut to fifty hours, and that fewer stops than had been scheduled are needed west of the Mississippi, the experiment of the first aerial mail carriers to reach Oakland from the Atlantic coast today is attracting the attention of the officials of the postal department and of the commercial world.

The two all-metal planes, carrying nine passengers and pilots, besides the sacks of Uncle Sam's mail, swooped down from the great heights to which they were forced by strong winds, and made their lands at Durant field at 3:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon before the thousands of persons who had gathered to see them land and to welcome the fliers. They were first sighted at 3 o'clock, but as they circled around the bay and San Francisco for a brief time before they landed, it was near the half hour before they came to earth.

The large and heavily laden aircraft landed as lightly as might any one-man carrier and taxied to the far corner of the field. It was then that the crowds turned loose an enthusiasm held long in check, broke through the lines held by the police, and surged to the sides of those who had made the first aerial trip from the East to West. As pilots and passengers clambered out of the upholstered and panelled "ships" a number of Oakland girls showered them with blossoms, and Mayor Davie greeted them on behalf of the city of Oakland.

SERVICE STARTS SOON

Indicating the purposes of the experiment and in sharp contrast to the festival spirit of the landing was the precision with which the business of delivering the mail was transacted. The pouch of letters was unstrapped, delivered to Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough and sent to the Oakland postoffice for distribution almost before the greetings of the local crowds had been acknowledged. Aside from the mail from New York there were three registered letters from Cleveland and one from Reno.

The official flying time of the trip from New York, it was announced, was 36 hours and 40 minutes. Officials say that the trip proved that 50 hours, total time, will be possible and that the regular service will be started on September 7. The planes left New York on July 29.

"We can leave New York early Monday morning and deliver mail here before noon on Wednesday," said Major L. B. Lent, superintendent of the aerial mail service, who arrived with the planes. He declared that the trip had been of great value and that it was not without the bounds of fact to say that the airplane has been made commercially big in a national sense. Supplies and equipment for the important western stations are being rushed forward in time for the starting of the regular service. Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake and Reno are to be the important western stops between the Mississippi and San Francisco.

Of the flight Major Lent said:

LENT LIKES PLANE

"We found the type of plane used gives us several advantages as using less fuel and oil and for the comparative high areas of useful loading capacity. We have yet to develop more perfectly navigating instruments for direction finding and this is being rapidly accomplished. It appears from this flight that we shall not need so many intermediate stations and that the time of service between points west of Chicago can be cut in the final schedule. We shall have to learn by experience how the service will operate in the mountain regions during the hard winter. In the East it has been maintained at times when the mail trains could not be moved.

Those to arrive in the two planes were:

John A. Brockhurst, observer, representative of the International News Service; Lieutenant Charles Colt of Washington, D. C.; S. C. Eaton, pilot of No. 2; Major L. Lent, superintendent of the aerial mail service; John M. Larsen, designer and manufacturer of the planes; Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, Burt Acosta, pilot of plane No. 1; President Allyne of the Aluminum Casting Company of Cleveland and E. Buehle, mechanic.

Mrs. C. A. Tush, "mother" of the Allied Flyers' Club of Oakland, chaperoned the following girls who showered flowers on the visitors: Rosalie Waits, Tita Leach, Francis Johns, Dorothy Woods and Isabel Bennett.

Others in the party to greet the airmen were:

R. C. Bowman, manager of the Durant Field; William Royal, president of the Pacific Aero Club of San Francisco; Harold Austin, president of the Allied Flyers' Club of Oakland; Harris C. Allen, chairman of the committee of aeronautics of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; Walter D. Cole, president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; J. B. Struble and Joseph H. King, directors of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; T. P. Bristol of the Western Aero Club of San Jose.

Oakland Housewives Discuss Food Today

To frame a more vigorous campaign to combat the high cost of living, the Oakland branch of the California Federation of Housewives Leagues met this afternoon in the city hall. W. F. Hume, marketing director of the California Market League, and Victor A. Dunn were the speakers. Mrs. L. C. Grasser, president, presided.

"Bake at Home" and "Decrease the Consumption of Milk" are the slogans of the league since the prices of bread and milk advanced, August 1. Experiments by the housewives led them to announce that a loaf of bread in excess of 24 ounces, including the cost of labor, could be baked at home for 9½ cents.

SPROULE CLAIMS BRIDGE EXPENSE NOW PROHIBITORY

William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific Company, sent a letter today to the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, addressed to President Walter D. Cole, in which it is stated that articles published in the local press recently based on information given out by County Surveyor Haviland's office on the subject of proposed bascule bridge between Oakland and Alameda, were evidently based upon misinformation.

After stating that the subject had not been revived, and that he did not think that either the company or the county could afford to go ahead with the project at this time, President Sproule said in his letter:

"The costs of construction at this time are prohibitory and the plain fact is that for all business purposes the present bridges fulfill their functions in the public service, except for ornamental purposes, and for ornamental purposes this is not the time to be spending money.

"If the bridge were built it would probably cost $4,000,000. The benefit the people would get from the investment either in transportation or in highway service is problematical and they certainly would not get their money's worth.

"With a great part of the civilized world in a condition of warfare and with our own foreign affairs unsettled it seems a strange time to delude ourselves into the idea that money can be spent on things that are not essential. To get money to buy even cars and engines to move the business of the public makes it necessary for us to pay close to 7 per cent for the money. It can be had on no better terms, which perhaps suffices to answer the suggestion that millions can be had to build bridges in these times."

TIGERS AND BEES FINISH ON SHORT END OF WEEK'S SERIES

OAKS WIN TWO SUNDAY GAMES FROM JOHNSON'S CLUB; ANGELS AND SEALS ON TOBOGGAN

BUZ ARLETT AND RAY KREMER HURL OAKS TO DOUBLE VICTORY

Hits by Buz Scores Winning Runs in Both the Games; Major Scouts Praise Oak Recruits

By EDDIE MURPHY

Just when Ernie Johnson, manager of the Salt Lake Bees, thought his club was out of its slump the Oaks kicked through and handed the Bees two beatings yesterday and copped the series. Russell "Buz" Arlett is a mighty mean fellow in the opinion of the Salt Lake players and their manager. In the morning game on the local lot, the big Oak pitcher held the Bees to five hits and the boys from the Mormon City went down to a 5-to-2 defeat. A two-bagger by "Buz" in the seventh off Sailor Ralph Stroud chased home two runs that were enough to win for the Oaks. In the afternoon "Buz" played first base in absence of Louie Guisto, and besides playing like a regular first-sacker, he drove out a hit in the second inning that scored Billy Lane and helped Ray Kremer to get credit for a 2-to-0 win in the pitching records.

Guisto strained his back in the game Saturday afternoon, but Manager Del Howard expects him to get into the lineup when the Oaks open their series with the Vernon Tigers at Los Angeles tomorrow. The Oaks beat Jack Bromley, the league's best pitcher, in Friday's game, so Manager Howard used Sailor Stroud in the morning in hope of clinching the series. The Oaks got eight hits off the Sailor, but wasted only two of them.

Buz Arlett's single, Brubaker's sacrifice and Claude Cooper's single gave the Oaks one in the second. In the seventh when they got their other four runs, Lane and Alten singled, Buz Arlett got his double and Brubaker got a single. Willie was issued a free trip to first base to help the Oaks in their rally.

A walk, a stolen base by Johnson and Francois Hosp's single gave the Bees their first run. Stroud's single, Johnson's sacrifice and infield outs gave them their other.

Billy Lane Is Playing in His Old-Time Form.

Ray Kremer pitched about his best game of the season to beat the Bees in the afternoon. He allowed eight hits, but they were widely scattered. In the first inning he allowed the bags to become jammed and then fanned Thurston and grabbed Hood's line drive for the last out.

Nick Cullop didn't look so bad himself and it was tough on him that his teammates couldn't find Kremer at the right time. Billy Lane, who said that he would get back to his old stride if given a chance to rest his sore legs and bum rib, certainly spoke truthful words. He took a short rest and came back in the series against Sacramento and hit the ball around second base and hit the ball harder than he has in any other series this season. It was his triple that paved the way for the Oaks' win in the afternoon. He started the second inning with a three-ply swat and Buz Arlett drove him home with a single.

Jack Knight drove home the second [illegible] ping Claude Cooper singled, advanced on Miller's out and Knight singled

Billy Paull Will Help Oaks in Arlett's Absence.

The Oaks will leave tonight for Los Angeles and with them will be Billy Paull, the San Jose boy who tried out with the locals in the spring. Billy played in the Pacific International league since leaving the Oaks and Cliff Blankenship says that he is going to be heard from some day. Del Howard is taking Billy because Pop Arlett will be out of the game for the next couple of weeks with a broken rib.

Yesterday morning's game was a good example of how badly the Oaks would be fixed should a player or two get injured. With Louie Guisto out of the lineup and Lane playing second in place of Pop Arlett, it was necessary to bring Cooper from the outfield to first base and let Ernie Alten, a pitcher, play right field and Denny Willie center. The Oaks did pretty well in copping the two games with the patched lineups. After the series with Vernon the Oaks will travel north for a series with Portland and Seattle, and then to Sacramento. Del Howard expects to take Paull on the full trip with him. That must mean that McAlpine will be released in the south.

Major Scouts Praise Young Oakland Hurler

Three other young players who were with the Oaks in the spring training camp and for a while after the start of the season, will return to Del Howard's care after September 6. The players are Infielders Henry Gingiardi and Claude Mitchell, and Pitcher Don Lambert. All three lads have been performing with Cliff Blankenship's club and reports are that they are now ripe for the Coast league. Gingiardi is hitting over the .335 mark, while Mitchell his proved to be one of the most flashy fielders to be seen on the Northwest lots. Claude has also shown an improvement in his hitting line. the coaching of Blankenship.

Howard will be disappointed if Pitcher Lambert doesn't prove a winner in this league. Bob Connery, Russ Hall and Eddie Herr, all big league scouts, returned from an expedition in the P. I. league and to a Del Howard that Lambert is the best pitching prospect up there and that he will be a sure winner in the Coast league. Lambert was with the St. Mary's college team when he got his first trial with the Oaks, and spent last summer pitching for semi-pro clubs. He came to the Oaks in the spring of this year for his second trial.

Looks Like. Los Angeles Club Has Lost Punch.

Nine more weeks of play remain in the Coast league. Of the first division clubs, the Vernon Tigers, who are out in front, have played the most consistent ball. Although the Bees [illegible] the Tigers to the Oaks, they are playing good ball. The Beavers crowded the Seals out of the first division last week, and it doesn't need very much of a jolt to put the Angels out of it. The Seattle Rainiers are in sixth place but on the verge of passing the Seals and Beavers and Angels.

Last week was a disastrous one for all the clubs in the first division before they started the series just closed. All the clubs who were in the second division the first of last week copped the series from first division clubs. The Angels won but two out of eight games with the Tigers and the Bees and Bill Rodgers' band have about weakened. The Angels have lost every one of their last five series played and that is no way for a club to act when it is supposed to be a pennant contender. If things keep breaking as they have lately the race for the flag will be a lot better than expected it would be.

Homer by Babe Hollis Defeats Best Tractors

Babe Hollis, Richmond Elks' pitcher, had an extra good day at bat and on the pitching hill at the San Leandro ball park yesterday afternoon, so the C. L. Best Tractors of the cherry town went down to a 4 to 2 defeat, and the series between those clubs came to an end, with the Richmond club winning four out of six games. Hollis held the Tractors to three hits, one being a homer over the left field fence by little Frankie Coleman, the Tractors' shortstop. In the fourth inning a single by "Bud" Conely, Coleman's sacrifice and Autrey's boot of Paul Orr's grounder gave the Tractors their other run.

Paul Orr collected the third hit off Hollis in the ninth inning when two were out. Mathers was the last batter to face Hollis and with San Leandro fans pleading for a homer, George lifted a fly to George Benn and it was all over.

HOLLIS HITS HOMER

An infield hit by Schwake, and a clean single by Chamberlain was all that the Elks got off the pitching of Heinie Lay in the first four rounds, with the Tractors leading 1 to 0, when Babe Hollis stepped to the plate with runners on first and second. He lifted the ball over the left field fence for a home run. Rhubart, who walked, and Lane, who laid down a bunt and was safe on a fielder's choice, were the men on the paths when Hollis hit for the circuit.

The Elks went out and got another run for good measure in the seventh inning. George Benn singled to left, stole second and scored on Steve Cronin's single to left.

Lay pitched good, but Hollis was a little better and his homer also cut a figure in the result. In the second inning with two on, Lay fanned two batters to retire the side.

MARSHAL PERALTA ON JOB

Umpire Stolle of Richmond was almost mobbed by San Leandro players and fans when he called Darling out at first base after Chick Autrey failed to tag him or have his foot on the bag. Town Marshal Peralta cleared the field after preventing Tony Enos from striking the umpire.

Pres. McCarthy Has Talk With Accused Tiger

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—"I am now in possession of Baker (Babe' Borton's version of the alleged bribery affair, but cannot give out anything at present," President McCarthy said following the interview with the suspended player. "To do so would hamper me in verifying many things and circumstances contained in the statement. I intend to leave for San Francisco tonight to begin a thorough investigation. It will require three or four days to clear up and corroborate various assertions that Borton made, but I think I can give my decision by next Wednesday."

Harl Maggert, Salt Lake center fielder, has no grounds for appeal from the action of President Lane of the Bees, in suspending him following the alleged bribery revelations last week. President McCarthy said: "As far as I am concerned the Maggert end of the case is a closed book," he said. "I tried every way possible to get Maggert to reveal the names of those who had been in the crap game where Borton is alleged to have lost $300, but he sullenly refused and defied me to do my worst. Maggert was surly when questioned and judging from his actions I do not think anyone could get him to talk."

BASEBALL GOSSIP

The Oaks copped two games from the Salt Lake Bees. In the morning the score was 5 to 2, while in the afternoon it was 2 to 0. The Oaks were the only ones to cop both Sunday games.

The Bees lost the series to the locals by one game, while the Tigers did likewise to the Coyotes. So the two clubs are separated by the same distance they were the first of last week. The Angels took a big tumble before the Portland Beavers, while the Seals slipped back a little by meeting the Rainiers and losing the series.

All in all it was a great week for the second division clubs and a poor one for the first division ones.

The Oaks leave tonight for a four-week road trip, playing Vernon, Portland, Seattle and Sacramento in the order named. Then they come home for five weeks and leave to play the last week at Salt Lake.

Billy Lane's triple in the afternoon game that set the stage for Buz Arlett to drive him home, was a hard smash to the right field fence. Billy made a great sprint and slide into the third bag to beat the throw.

Ernie Alten looked a little awkward in going after flies in the outfield, but he managed to get hold of them all. A couple were difficult chances. Claude Cooper also went pretty good around first.

Pop Arlett has learned that he has another rib broken. He better not go for any more examinations at the Doc is to discover a new break each time.

Pop will remain at home and give a lot of attention to the bushers in hope of finding some future Ty Cobs or Babe Ruths for the Oaks.

Cobbs or Babe Ruths for the Oaks. Rodgers of the Sacramento Coyotes think that Pop Arlett is as good as any utility man in the league. They are not the only ones who think that way.

The Portland baseball fans were treated to twenty-four innings of play yesterday. In the first game of a double-header the Beavers won in fifteen innings by 4 to 3 score. The Angels came back in the second game and won, 8 to 4.

Herb McQuaid pitched the Seals to a 5 to 4 win over Seattle, and then Slim Love lost a pitching duel to Lefty Schorr in the second game.

Tribune Marathon Month From Today

One month from today and the Eighth Annual TRIBUNE Lake Merritt Marathon race will go down in history. With all other sports having its greatest year, it is believed that the TRIBUNE Marathon on Admission day will be the best ever. Entry blanks are now ready and are being rushed to applicants. Every evening a bunch of runners can be seen practicing on the course around the lake. Rush in your entry and make the work easier for the committee, which will have its hands full from now until the race takes place. Address them to the Sporting Editor, The Oakland TRIBUNE.

The Briarcliff (N. Y.) Gun Club has offered the use of its well appointed grounds to the Atlantic Indians for their annual tournament on the fall. Briarcliff will put in five traps if the Indians accept the invitation and show the shooters a royal time.

Halton-Didiers Trim Millers In Final Game

By MAURY PESSANO.

For the last few weeks bush fans around Alameda and Oakland have waited for the game to be played between the California Cotton Mills Club and the Halton-Didiers at Alameda. Yesterday afternoon at Lincoln Park those fans got their chance to see two of the best clubs around the bay in action. The Millers and the Halton-Didiers dished up one of the best games played at Lincoln park for months. The Halton-Didiers gave the Millers a coat of whitewash, winning 6 to 0. The pitching of Lane Shultis, who occupied the mound for the Alameda boys, caused Miller fans to go home disappointed. He was too much for Frank Cotton's club. Several errors by the Millers in the pinches helped the Alameda club to victory. Shultis was touched for but two hits, both doubles.

ERRORS HELP CLOTHIERS

Those two hits by Roy Nelson and Fitzgerald were the only chances that the Millers had as the boys behind Shultis played brilliant ball. He whiffed eight Millers and worked five innings with but two men reaching first base, both on walks. His pitching since joining the Halton-Didiers has been a sensation. Much credit for Shultis' success must be given to Al Ross, catcher, who is having a great season behind the log. Al uses good head work and can help the pitcher in pinches. "Shorty" La Cloustra pitched good ball for the Millers, but poor support proved fatal. The Clothiers earned but one run. In the opening [illegible] pitched to left field for a double. Humphreys shoved him along on a perfect bunt but the next two batters whiffed.

AL ROSS SCORES ONE

Lane Shultis' teammates gave him a three run lead in the third inning. Ross got a hit to left but was forced at second by Shultis. French walked. "Daddy" Kues whiffed. McAllister got a hit to left field, scoring Shultis, and when Fitzgerald threw wild to second, French scored and McAllister moved up to third. A hit by Chase scored the former. The Clothiers added another in the following frame. Art Vargas was safe at first when his drive went through Bruzzone's legs. He came all the way home on a double to deep center by Al Ross. Duarte's boys sent home another tally in the sixth without a hit. Chase reached second on a bad throw by Bruzzone. Foster was safe at second and Chase scored when Rizzo made a wild heave to first base on Foster's grounder. Two hits, by French, and Kues, in the seventh along with an error by Humphreys gave the Clothiers their last tally. Yesterday's game won the series for Halton-Didiers. Next Sunday at Vallejo Manuel Duarte will turn his boys loose against Tom Sullivan's Shipbuilders.

MARTY FARRELL WILL HAVE TO WEIGH 158 OR BAT WON'T FIGHT

Al Walker Will Box Danny Edwards on Next Wednesday Night, Instead of Geo. Adams

By BOB SHAND

If Marty Farrell does not make 158 pounds at seven-thirty in the evening there will positively be no Ortega-Farrell contest in San Francisco a week from Friday night. This is the ultimatum of Tommy Simpson, manager of Ortega. "I have nothing against Farrell, but I don't like his connections," said Thomas, "and there is no reason why I should concede anything to him. He promised to make 158 pounds at seven-thirty and now he wants the weighing-in time earlier. There is positively nothing doing and I have so notified the San Francisco Post of the American Legion which is trying to stage the contest

Oakland City Hall Employee Endorses the Fong Wan Herbs

While in the U. S. Army I suffered agonies from piles. I was treated by the army doctors without effect, and later by several physicians in Oakland, one of whom told me to go home and take some Castor Oil and I'd be all right. But I didn't get "all right." I suffered just the same and was told that I must face an operation.
Finally I heard of the well-known Tong Wan Chinese Herb treatment. I drank the herb about four weeks and am now in fine condition. I have no more trouble from my former complaint, and am working in the Oakland City Hall. I am glad to recommend the Fong Wan Herbs to all who are in poor health.

SING HERBS USED AS TONICS

The herbs administered by the well-known Sing Herb Specialists are coming daily into more popular use as tonics for improving the entire physical state.
Certain of the herbs used by the Specialists in their treatments are admirably adapted for this use. They remove poisons and impurities of all sorts from the blood which carried them from poorly functioning organs throughout the system. And they act on the organs themselves, cleansing them and restoring them to normal, healthy action.

Opening of Parr Terminals Marks Step in Bay's Program of Industrial and Commercial Growth

DEVELOPMENT ON BASIC LINES FOR CITIES IS BEGUN

Shod with the seven league boots of great industrial and commercial opportunity, Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, in the face of costly money and labor and still costlier material, are making great strides in an unusual and highly important development.

That development, emphasized tomorrow by the opening of the Parr Terminals as the newest adjunct to the great Eastbay harbor scheme, is to be seen on every side.

H. S. Heck, harbor engineer, has the backing of a special committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce in his proposal to the city council, a few days ago, that $670,000 be included as a budget item to go to harbor development.

The city, under his plan, would erect a 300-foot three story cargo shed on its quay wall; extend a pier from the quay with transport sheds as the first unit of a sawtooth pier series; pave the wide sandy expanse to permit trucks to reach the quay and do other work including deepening of the estuary to thirty feet to the bridges.

It is the belief of the engineer and the Chamber of Commerce that the city once embarked on this scheme can draw enormous additions to its maritime commerce, already growing fast.

BERKELEY MOVING AHEAD.

Almost at the same time Berkeley has received the word of approval from Washington on the first third of its $45,000,000 waterfront improvement plan and it has been announced by Rufus P. Jennings that the work of filling in marsh land will start at once.

This step is preliminary to the expenditure of approximately $15,000,000 during a period of five years on a program resembling Oakland's Parr Terminal development. Jennings is lessee of Berkeley's water front.

Alameda's share in the bayside unfolding is to be seen in the start on $2,000,000 dock construction work by the Standard Coal Company. It is forecasted the terminal eventually will be the distributing depot for Alaskan coal.

With an eye on the waterfront with its promised and materializing industry, the subject of land transportation is receiving equal attention.

NEW DEPOT PROJECT.

In the city the question of a new passenger terminal at Fourteenth and Franklin streets has been raised by the municipality. An appeal has been made to the railway. Refusal will be followed by a request that the State Railway Commission order a new station to replace the one now marring the sightliness of the downtown district and the company's property.

Transportation development also is pending in the bay crossing service. On August 3 representatives of the East bay cities went to San Francisco and there talked with Southern Pacific officials about a new automobile ferry service which is proposed and is needed to relieve the overworked estuary line.

In the same category, although not quite so near at home is the plan of the Santa Fe shortly to discontinue use of the Oakland mole and once more run ferries from Richmond to San Francisco. At the same time the Six Minute Ferry Company is planning a 50-minute ferry service from Richmond to San Francisco with two new steel boats. Richmond has offered to donate a ferry slip space between the Santa Fe and the municipal piers. It is further announced that state authority has been given the Richmond and San Rafael ferry to finance another boat on the Richmond-San Quentin run, to cost $175,000. The boat will run by next April.

MORE SHIP CONTRACTS.

But traffic development is only half the story of Eastbay growth. The shipyards present another chapter where frames rise on all the ways. The newest contracts are those obtained by the Union Construction Company and the Moore Shipbuilding Company.

Walter Johnson, president of the Union, whose plant is in the Key Route Basin, returned to Oakland a few days ago with contracts for three tankers for the Anglo-Saxon Company, Limited, of London, to cost approximately $5,150,000. Johnson had talked to eastern ship interests and sees roseate prospects for bay plants.

The Moore yards are to put together a new 10,000-ton tanker for the Vacuum Oil Company of New York, a sister ship to two tankers built for the same company in the same yards before.

There are other developments that are important industrially.

NEW INDUSTRY LIST.

At a recent hearing in San Francisco before the State Railroad Commission on rate inequalities, P. E. Thompson, treasurer of the San Francisco Manufacturers' Association, told the commission that Oakland in two years had won $12,000,000 worth of industrial plants in competition with San Francisco by better shipping rates and facilities.

He named:

The American Can Company, $2,000,000; Bisceglia Brothers' Canning Company, $1,000,000; Coast Tire and Rubber Company, $250,000; Durant Aviation Field, Federal Wool Manufacturing Company, $2,000,000; H. Jones & Co., $500,000; Libby, McNeill & Libby, $2,000,000; Lewis Gillman Moore, Magnavox Company, $250,000; National Lead Company, $750,000; Golden Gate Asparagus Company, Palmolive Company, $750,000 and Western Milling Company, $2,000,000.

There are others.

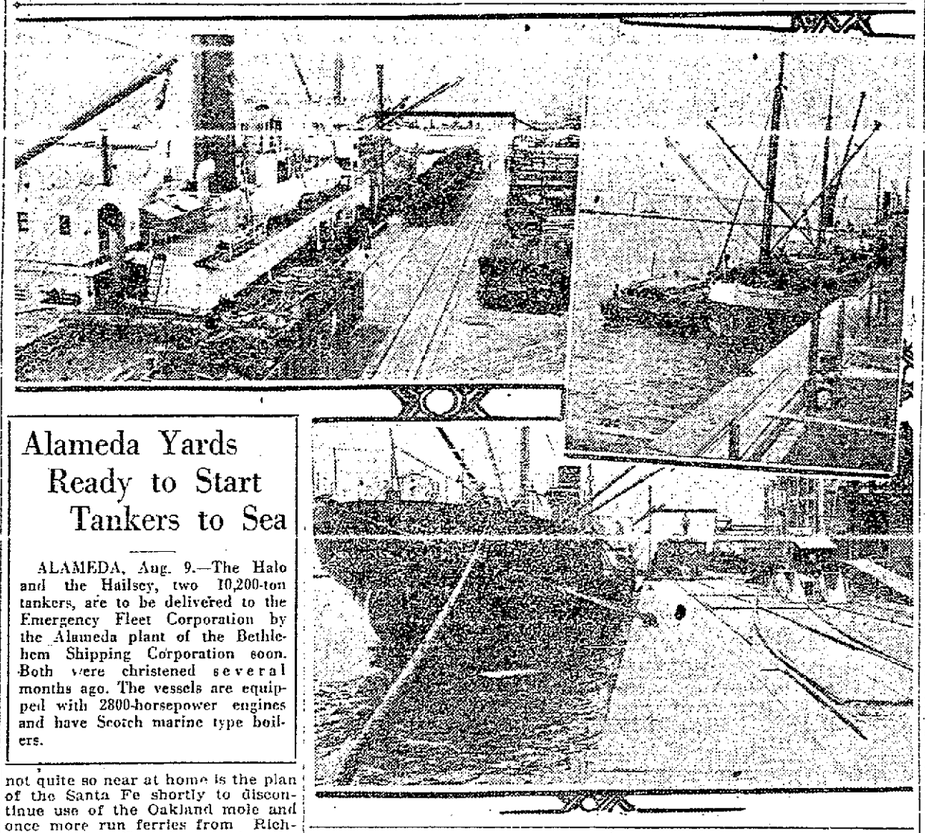
STILL THEY COME.

Among the latest are the general Pacific coast offices of the Creasey Corporation, wholesalers; the Western Aluminum Manufacturing Company in Emeryville, just finishing a new plant; the Eureka Packing Company, which has just filed articles of incorporation and will build a big cannery in Oakland, and the Portland Flour Mills, which have taken dock and warehouse contracts with the new Parr Terminals and will lease and build a plant on Parr property if the city permits, application for that permit having been made to Mayor Davie.

With these things going on in and about its borders, the city of Oakland itself is not idle and is considering a programm of street widening and improvement including extentions of East Eighth, Tenth and Twelfth streets to serve the industrial district along the inner harbor.

Nor can advertisement of $1,000,000 worth of school bonds for school extensions in the city be forgotten as an evidence of the development here reviewed.

Scene of activity at Parr Terminal, where ocean-going steamers have already docked and discharged their cargoes.



Alameda Yards Ready to Start Tankers to Sea

ALAMEDA, Aug. 9.—The Halo and the Hailsey, two 10,200-ton tankers, are to be delivered to the Emergency Fleet Corporation by the Alameda plant of the Bethlehem Shipping Corporation soon. Both were christened several months ago. The vessels are equipped with 2800-horsepower engines and have Scotch marine type boilers.

ALL STATE WILL BE REPRESENTED AT NEW WHARVES

All of Oakland will be present tomorrow, through the representatives of its various commercial and civic organizations, when, with a land and air fete, there will be celebrated the city's acquisition of major importance as a deep water port. To aid in the opening of the Parr Terminals on the western waterfront more than a thousand prominent men of San Francisco and the Chambers of Commerce of Berkeley and Alameda will take part.

The program, which will mark the completion of the first unit of the improvements, 5000 lineal feet of operating wharves, a concrete warehouse, and the installation of modern loading and unloading machinery, includes an airplane exhibition, a luncheon, addresses and music.

Mayor Ralph of San Francisco is to head the 1500 invited guests from that city. Officials and directors of the Alameda Chamber of Commerce will attend in a body, as will the officials and directors of the Berkeley organization.

Mayors Davie of Oakland, Louis Bartlett of Berkeley and Frank Otis of Alameda are to be special guests. Walter D. Cole, president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, will preside at the formal ceremonies, and among the speakers will be J. H. McCallum, president of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners in San Francisco, and Atholl McBean, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Governor Stephens has accepted the invitation of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce to speak and as representative of California at the opening of the Terminals.

RAUM COLLECTION OF WORLD NOTE OFFERED TO CITY

The $500,000 collection of ethnological material from all parts of the world, the result of thirty-five years of collecting by its owner, Col. George E. Raum of Berkeley, and which has been sought by all of the leading museums of the country has been offered to the Oakland Public Museum.

There is one proviso in the offer. It is that Oakland erect a modern fireproof museum building in which to house the collection. Raum has visited John Rowley, curator of the museum several times during the last month during which plans for exhibiting the world-famous collection if it is accepted by the city were made.

With the Raum collection to add to the collection of natural history specimens now being made by the Leslie Simson expedition to Africa for the Oakland museum, it is now certain that Oakland has the makings of the greatest museum on the Pacific coast, according to Rowley.

BUILDING NECESSARY

"The only thing necessary now is to have the council provide adequate buildings for the collections which the city has offered to it," says Rowley.

Col. Baum is a student of ethnology and a scholar of Egyptology of national renown. His collection he offers to the Oakland Public Museum as he is making his home in Berkeley. In addition to offering the collection, he has offered to Rowley his invaluable services without cost to the city to arrange and catalog the material in the collection.

The entire collection is now housed in a warehouse in New York city and has been there several years. According to Rowley, every museum in the country has had its eye on the collection since Col. Raum retired from active work in the collecting field a number of years ago and several have bid for it.

CONFERENCE ARRANGED

If Oakland does not provide a fireproof museum building for the collection it will be given to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C., and the greatest collection of ethnological material in this country will be lost to the city, Rowley says.

Much of the material from Egypt in the University of California museum of anthropology in Berkeley and the Egyptology museum at the Affiliated College in San Francisco is the result of the collection of Col. Raum.

Besides the material from Egypt, the collection offered to Oakland includes complete sets of costumes of the peasantry of every country in the world.

Means by which the city may bring about the construction of the required housing facilities for the proffered collection of Col. Baum and of the unequaled collection of African mammalia are to be discussed at a meeting being arranged for early in September by John Rowley and Walter D. Cole, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

SOUNDS DIVORCE WARNING

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Thirty years hence, in 1950, Chicago will be a city of wrecked homes, if the present ratio of divorce to marriage is maintained during that period, according to William F. McDermott, a business man.

Boys Block Two Thugs in Bold Robbery Attempt

Two sluggers were frustrated in their attempt to rob George Dodson, an employee of the Giant Powder Works, by two 11-year-old boys late last night near Fruitvale avenue and the Western Pacific tracks. The boys, John Smith, 827 Thirty-fifth avenue, and Harold Hansen, 3714 East Fourteenth street, heard a cry emerging from the shadows near the tracks, and going down to reconnnoiter, they saw the two thugs attack Dodson. He was struck over the head and sank to the ground.

The boys called to the sluggers as they saw them stoop to rifle the pockets of Dodson.

"You better beat it or we'll call the police." The thugs ran down the track.

ELIZABETH MAGEE RESUMES DOLLS; SPURNS SPOUSE

Elizabeth Magee has been disillusioned. Her romance, if ever there was one, is shattered. The 13-year-old bride of Clyde Spinning, alias Bissell, who was arrested at his father's Los Gatos home, after a State-wide chase, will not be found waiting at the prison doors to greet her Lothario when his time is up. He is not a hero to her now. Elizabeth confirmed this today in Los Angeles when she declared emphatically, "I never want to see him again."

Happily playing with her dolls and little companions at the home of her father, Constantine Magee, Huntington Park, she showed no concern when informed that her husband of a few short weeks had been returned, to Buena Vista, Colo., state reformatory to serve a long term on the charge of grand larceny, having stolen goods in his possession, and for violating his parole.

Spinning, alias Bissell, and the girl disappeared from the Magee home after he had been a roomer there for two years. He was accused of abducting Elizabeth, but on her return home she refuted the charge, and declared that she left home willingly, "because she loved Clyde."

"My little girl never realized the magnitude of her flight," said her father, today, according to new despatches from the south. "To her it was only a game of hide and seek. The officers of the law in their stern chase for a felon were to her only so many 'hounds' in the game of 'Hare and Hounds,' she used to play with her brother, Charlie."

That the strange love-knot has been completely severed was proven by the complete indifference of the child to Bissell's fate. Without a tear or a heartache, the little girl has forgotten the episode and its meaning.

"In two years," declared her father, 'Elizabeth will have forgotten the face of her husband and will not be able even to recall how he looked."

Blood-Stained Knife Betrays Assailant

Manuel Guerlera, who attacked and stabbed Frank Krail, 2754 East Eighth street, yesterday, probably will be charged by the police with assault with a deadly weapon.

Guerlera, who was arrested in his room at the Hotel Eureka, denied that he had stabbed Krail, but when the police found a blood-stained knife concealed in the room, he confessed.

It is believed that Krail will recover.

Achievement, success or threatened failure—the romance of human endeavor—are accurately and permanently recorded in black and white. The ledger is the financial pressure gauge of modern business.

Supplying business men with modern systems, office appliances and devices is an important part of H. S. Crocker Company's business. For 64 years it has maintained this service, improving it from year to year, until today its five stores in four cities stand as a monument to its success.

Always having on hand complete stocks of modern stationery, leather goods, office appliances, and maintaining one of the largest printing, engraving and lithographing plants in the West has earned for H. S. Crocker Company the reputation of being California's leading stationer and printer.

OIL LEADS STATE MINERAL VALUES

Each of California's fifty-eight counties, save one, according to Fletcher Hamilton, state mineralogist, contribute some mineral to the mine products of the state. No other equal area is so rich in mineral deposits as California, taking into account the variety and extent of deposits. Only the great coal producing states surpassed this state in the value of mine products marketed previously to 1916, and only with the vastly enhanced value of copper, due to war demand, did Montana and Arizona forge ahead since that year.

California is the only state producing borax. She furnishes 75 per cent of the quicksilver of the country, and, until recently, was the country's sole supply of chromite and magnesite. For several years the state has led in the production of gold and platinum, while alternating the lead in tungsten with Colorado, and petroleum with Oklahoma.

These statements are predicated on the completion of the returns of mining operations for the whole country, just made by Mineralogist Hamilton, and reported to the State Mining Bureau. California's last year's mineral output fell but a small figure under $200,000,000. More than fifty mineral products contribute to this production, not subdividing the principal groups.

The petroleum figures were $145,000,000; gold, $17,500,000; silver, $1,250,000.

A feature of the year's mineral harvest was the decrease of the "war minerals." Chromite, copper, magnesite, potash and tungsten made up the list of materials principally demanded in war materials. Compared with the 1918 output, copper declined one-half in quantity and one-third in value.

Berkeley Facing Housing Shortage

BERKELEY, Aug. 9.—Berkeley is facing an acute housing problem, according to the Weekly Business Summary of the First National Bank of Berkeley, which, unless solved soon, will result in material financial loss to the community and greatly inconvenience many hundreds of incoming university students and large numbers of prospective new residents. The situation has been taken up by the Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations, with a view to inducing owners of houses that are for sale, but not for rent, to relieve the situation by releasing these houses to renters. It is also planned to induce capital to erect many new apartment houses.

Comparison of building activities between the year 1914 and 1920 shows that, while there was a marked increase in the number of one-family dwellings constructed during the year ending July 1, 1920, there were more dwellings for two and more families erected in 1914 than for the fiscal year just ended. In 1914 there were 23 dwellings of two or more family capacity erected, against 13 for the year ending July 1, 1920. These figures, together with the influx of new residents, explain the situation now before the civic and business interests of the community.

OIL — MINING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—The Mining Shares market opened quiet and irregular. Simon Silver led the list, moving up 13 points from 87 cents, reacting to 90 cents and recovering before noon to $1. Gruss was strong and tightly held at $1.67½. Tonopah Divide underwent a reaction selling from $1.40 to $1.30. West Divide, on report of a good mine showing, continued to advance, while Gold Zone and Divide Extension lost a point each. Comstocks, Goldfields and West Tonopahs were dull and practically unchanged.

Industrial List Suffers Losses of 2 to 9 Points

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The New York Evening Sun financial review this afternoon said:

Losses of two to nine points in the industrial list and of from one to three points in railroad descriptions were recorded in the first half of the session of the stock market at the beginning of the new week. At midday there were indications that much of the momentum of the decline had been overcome and in the second hour of the afternoon substantial recoveries were noted.

The shorts, however, accelerated covering operations in the late session on receipt in the financial district of a despatch from London, that Russia had agreed to a truce of four days to give opportunity for discussion of armistice terms and peace preliminaries.

A good half of the previous losses, and in some cases more than half, was recovered in the last hour or so, but trading was pretty dull on the upturn.
